STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — For the third time in recent years, Lockway Farm of Mercersburg walked away with the grand champion trophy at the Pennsylvania Holstein Fall Championship Show.

Dick Greene, Gilbertsville, N.Y., who has judged many state, national and international shows, judged this year's 249-head show held at the Penn State Ag Arena Sept. 8. All-Pennsylvania awards, based on total points for winnings at Pennsylvania Holstein-sponsored shows during the year, were also announced at the show.

Judge Greene selected Lockway Holly Sexation, an Ocean-View Sexation aged cow, as grand champion for her dairyness and the quality of her udder. Shown by Richard and Georgianna Locke, Holly also won the Total Performance, Best Udder of the Show, and All-Pennsylvania Aged Cow Awards. Her top record was 293D 25,425M 4.9% 1234F.

Reserve grand champion of the open show was Jim-Slocums Triple Charo, shown by Donald Thompson of Westfield. This Triple Threat daughter was also reserve All-Pennsylvania aged cow.

The 1990 Keystone Holstein Futurity winner was Windy-Knoll-View Valiant Paola, entered by James and Nina Burdette, Mercersburg. She made All-Pennsylvania as a summer yearling in 1988 and reserve All-Pennsylvania junior three-year-old this year, and her dam was the 1988 Futurity winner.

Gordon and Dorothy Wood, Mansfield, won both the premier breeder and premier exhibitor banners. For their homebred cows with the Gor-Wood-D prefix, they won [illegible] place and All-Pennsylvania honorable mention 100,000 pound cow (Persuading Favor) best three females, All-Pennsylvania and second place 4-year-old (Warden Fond Mem

Berks Farm Family Named

VAL VANTASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent

FLEETWOOD (Berks Co.) — For the first time in the event's 35-year history, a family from the Pioneer Grange was honored as Berks County's Farm Family of the Year. The Ronald Richard family of Oley RD 2 received the award at the Reading Fair banquet last Wednesday at the Fleetwood Grange.

Ron and his wife, Barbara, met over 20 years ago at Grange Youth Camp. Both have been members of the Pioneer Grange over 20 years. Their children, Brian and Amy, are also involved in Grange activities. Amy is a past master of the Pioneer Jr. Grange.

Ron is a second generation farm family member. His parents, Ella and the late Ralph Richard, were named the Berks Co. Farm Family in 1964. Ron and Barbara bought bred heifers from his parents and began milking on their own in 1980. Four years ago the younger Richards bought the family farm.

Today the Richards milk 70 head of Holsteins with a rolling herd average of 17,400 lbs. The milk is shipped to Dietrich's and

Many Farmers Missing Gas Tax Refunds

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — The Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) has received direct word from the Pennsylvania Board of Finance and Revenue of a possible oversight by thousands of farmers who are eligible for gas tax refunds.

With less than three weeks left until the October 1 filing deadline, the state agency reported claims were running several thousand below last year's level.

Farmers are eligible for a refund of the 12 cents per gallon gas tax for gasoline purchased for vehicles used off the highway such as farm trucks and tractors. Claims are currently being accepted for gas tax refunds during the period from July 1, 1989 through June 30, 1990.

PFA's Farm Management Services prepares approximately 3,000 gas tax refund claims each year for clients of its Farm Management and Business Analysis Service (FMBAService).

Don Hummel, assistant manager of PFA's Farm Management Services, urged farmers who are eligible for the refund to be aware of the approaching deadline. "For farmers, it's a return usually of several hundred dollars of their own money that is due them," Hummel said. "Every farmer should have received a claim form from the state. It's in your best interest to complete the form and send it in as soon as possible. Unless you file a claim you won't be getting a refund check this year."

PFA is a voluntary, statewide farm organization representing over 23,000 farm families. It provides members with information, business services and a voice in public affairs.

N.E. Chicken Parts

Sept. 12, 1990

Trucklot buying interest was mixed and selective. Supplies of skinned boneless breasts were irregular but generally cleared well at higher price levels. Whole breasts, particularly line run were a bit more available on yellow product; however, white supplies were generally no more than adequate Leg items were at least adequate, especially leg quarters which traded in some instances as low as 32 cents. Yellow wings were in light supply and easy to place. Giblets were in demand for the religious holiday and supplies were limited.

OPINION

Ag Budget In Jeopardy

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has begun sending out letters to its employees notifying them of a reduction of hours and others await word as Congress and the White House attempt to solve the government's budget crisis.

Under the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings law, the 1991 budget deficit must be lowered to $64 billion by October 1, or severe, automatic budget cuts of $60 to $120 billion will take place. More than $22 billion of USDA programs would be affected. That's about a 32 percent cut in farm programs.

Budget watchers say the Middle East crisis could cause a suspension of the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings law IF there is a formal declaration of war. The only other way the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings law could be suspended is if there are a set of conditions which meet the statutory definition of recession, that is: two consecutive quarters of negative economic growth.

The American Farm Bureau (AFBF), says the budget cuts could affect agriculture in several ways. First, there would be major staff reductions in state and county USDA offices. Many offices would be closed at least two days a week and some employees would go on a limited work schedule.

In program areas, farm price support payments and deficiency payments would be severely reduced. Housing and operating loans would also be curtailed, and the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) could be affected. The cuts would also affect meat and poultry inspection, research and Extension.

Dairy farmers would be assessed approximately 8.7 cents per CWT of milk marketed, severely reducing cash receipts of the farm.

The Federal food stamp program, which is considered an entitlement program, would only lose about $600 million out of its $23 billion budget.

The Pennsylvania Farmer's Association and the American Farm Bureau is urging President Bush to immediately institute a spending freeze and no new taxes. They believe that a spending freeze, coupled with revenues from economic growth can provide the deficit reduction necessary to meet the expected budget summit requirements. Tax increases will harm an already faltering economy.

Farmers should ask their congressman why agriculture is called upon to take more than its share of budget cuts.

To Control Weeds In New Alfalfa

Recent growing conditions have favored the growth of alfalfa and weeds. In many cases the broadleaf weeds will crowd out the small alfalfa plants, if not controlled. Early seedings of alfalfa without a nurse crop need some weed protection.

One practice suggested in the Agronomy Guide is to spray with 2,4-DB when the weeds are one inch tall. This will knock out the broadleaf weeds without harming the alfalfa plants. Be sure to follow label directions.

If the weeds are permitted to develop larger, they will be hard to kill without hurting the alfalfa. Alfalfa seeding is expensive; this investment needs protection by controlling the weeds. Many good stands of alfalfa have been ruined by excessive weed growth.

To Be Careful During Silo Filling

Two real problems occur during silo filling time. One is overloading wagons causing broken spindles, twisted frames and bent axles. Corn silage is heavy this year and overloaded wagons crossing ditches or ruts in fields causes excessive strain on equipment. If your wagon is full when you are only half way around the field, change wagons; the "down time" to make repairs is more costly than the time to change wagons.

The other problem is "silo gas". I've discussed it before but it is important enough to review again. One farmer called to inform us that chickens walking under the chute of his recently filled silo dropped over dead from the gases coming down the chute. These gases can develop from one day to 14 days after the silo is filled. Most of these gases have a chlorine-laundry bleach odor. Some are yellow and some are colorless. Don't take any chances -- never enter a partly filled silo without running the blower for at least 15 minutes. These gases are heavier than air and will come down the chute into the barn. For more information on how it affects your lungs, contact the Lancaster County Lung Association. Be very careful around recently filled silos.

To Mow Weedy Pastures

If your pasture is weedy, and many are, then get out the mower. There are two good reasons for this; one it eliminates the production of weed seeds and two, it removes mature forage which lets plants send out new and tender growth. But, before you mow, you should graze the pasture heavily. With grazing you can utilize all the available feed. The animals eat some weeds, but they also eat some of the tall grasses that would be wasted by mowing. Remember to mow closely... 2 to 3 inches. And instead of trashing the clippings, save them. Many farmers recover enough hay from pasture mowings to winter their cattle.

To Store Pesticides Safely

Most producers are about finished with their spray materials for the year. Many of these can be held over until next year with good results. However, it is always best to buy only enough for one season at a time. When storing spray materials, always keep them in their original containers and away from children, pets and livestock. It is best to have a separate room or building for pesticide storage. Wettable powders are easy to store; however, emulsions and liquids may be harmed by freezing weather. Producers are urged to follow the label and instructions in this respect. It may be necessary to keep some of them in a heated building. Be sure they are not near feed supplies because accidents can happen. Pesticides kept in a room or building under a lock is a good way to prevent costly mistakes and tragedies.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

FACING THE MUSIC

September 16, 1990

Background Scripture: 2 Samuel 11:1 through 12:25.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 51:1-15.

What is harder than "facing the music"? What is more soul-wrenching than acknowledging that we have grievously sinned? What is more difficult for the human mind than to accept the consequences of our own choices?

In fact, it is so difficult for many of us that the only way our minds can grasp these realitites is to be tricked or finessed into it. Faced with an accusation of wrong doing, our minds become miraculously inventive in finding legitimate reasons for what we have done. We are rarely more creative than when trying to rationalize our sins. In fact, that's one of the reasons that the word "sin" is no longer in vogue. It is too stark, too clear-cut. What we want is something a bit more fuzzy and equivocal.

The prophet Nathan was facing just such a situation with King David. Nathan knew that David had sinned grievously: coveting another man's wife, committing adultery with her, and then plotting to have the husband killed to cover up Bathsheba's pregnancy. But he also realized that if he confronted David, the clever king would not admit that he had sinned. Perhaps he anticipated that David would become extremely angry and even do violence against him.

When we are concerned with our sins, we very often respond by projecting our anger with ourselves to someone else.

SETTING UP THE KING

So, Nathan cleverly "setup" the king by asking him to render judgement upon the acts of another man. Nathan knew that David, like all of us, loved to judge the deeds of others, particularly their bad deeds. David is certainly not alone in that, is he? Most of us enjoy, secretly or admittedly, executing judgements upon other people. Often, it makes us feel better about ourselves if we can condemn the actions of others.

The story he told David was obvious in its implications. The "rich man" had obviously sinned in taking from the "poor man" his one little ewe lamb. "Then David's anger was greatly kindled against the man," we are told. "As the Lord lives, the man who has done this deserves to die; and he shall restore the lamb four-fold, because he did this thing, and because he had no pity" (12:5,6). Who among us cannot join with David in righteous indignation over the "rich man's" evil deed?

YOU ARE THE MAN

What a dramatic moment when, with these words still vibrating on David's lips, Nathan replies: "You are the man!" (12:7). This rascal who "deserves to die," this "rich man" who must give restitution, is really the king himself. It is to David's credit that he no longer fights the verdict. Instead of protesting his innocence or "extenuating circumstances," David acknowledges that Nathan is correct when he charges: "You are the man!" Sometimes when we're caught in our own standards of judgement, we insist than "this is different." But David replied: "I have sinned against the Lord" (12:13).

What about you? Are you rather quick in your moral judgements upon other people? By what standards do you judge others? And when you are confronted with your sin, do you have the courage and integrity to acknowledge what you have done? Can you face the music.

Farm Credit Bankers Have Long Been Recognized For Achievements In The Field.

Farm Credit bankers possess their share of prestigious achievement awards. But more often than not, the awards they're most proud of are the ones they've earned in, say, conservation, dairy, or veterinary science.

Not many bankers can say that.

That's because most Farm Credit loan officers were born and raised on farms. They grew up active in 4-H and FFA. Many even got their college degrees from ag schools.

What's more, every one of our loan officers goes through the toughest ag lending training program in America.

And because our loan officers understand farming as well as financing, they're not only smarter. They're faster. In fact, they have the power of loan approval equal to most bank presidents.

So stop by soon and talk with your nearby Farm Credit loan officer. Because whenever you need some extra help in your field, you'll want to work with the banker most accomplished in his.

HOW TO BE RIGHT ON THE NUMBER.

Start by planting AG658 and AG777, bred specifically for this region Whether you're producing corn for grain or silage, they're right on the number for getting the most out of every acre

Both of these outstanding Agway hybrids have been developed, tested and proven to perform under the demanding soil, climate and growing conditions in this area

An acknowledged leader in seed corn research, Agway continues its efforts toward bringing you improved grain and dual-purpose silage/grain varieties that will result in more bushels per acre and more megacals of energy per ton

Before you place your seed reservation, talk to your Agway Farm Enterprise, Reading Bone/ Agway or Andgrow salesperson Find out which of these proven hybrids is best suited to your production requirements. It's the first step toward being right on the number

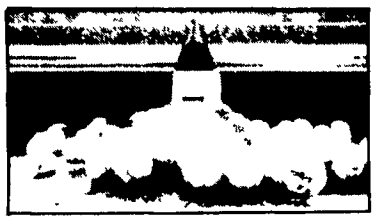
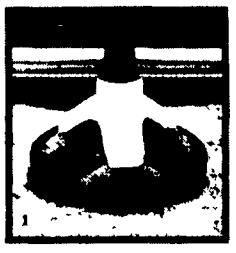
CONTRACTS AVAILABLE FOR NEW BROILER AND TURKEY HOUSES

CHORE-TIME® 's NEW H2 FEEDER IS WHAT YOU NEED

A New Way To Feed Broilers And Turkey Poults



H2 Broiler Feeder With Flood Gates Open, Fills Pan With Overflow Onto The Paper For Quick Starts With Minimum Waste.



H2 Turkey Poult Feeder Has Feed Chutes To Fill Pan Without Any Spillage Onto Shavings.

Pan Hangs On Cone For Easy Cleaning.

• OUR 10-YEAR WARRANTY on the auger and 5-year warranty on the pan says it all - WE STAND BEHIND IT!

• ALL-PLASTIC FEEDER consists of 3 simple, rugged polypropylene parts for permanent corrosion-proofing. Pan easily removes for clean-out and hangs from feeder for drying and storage.

FEED WINDOW (when Feed Gate is open) automatically floods pan with feed to attract chicks from day one. Saves labor — no more hauling and scooping feed into feeder pans!

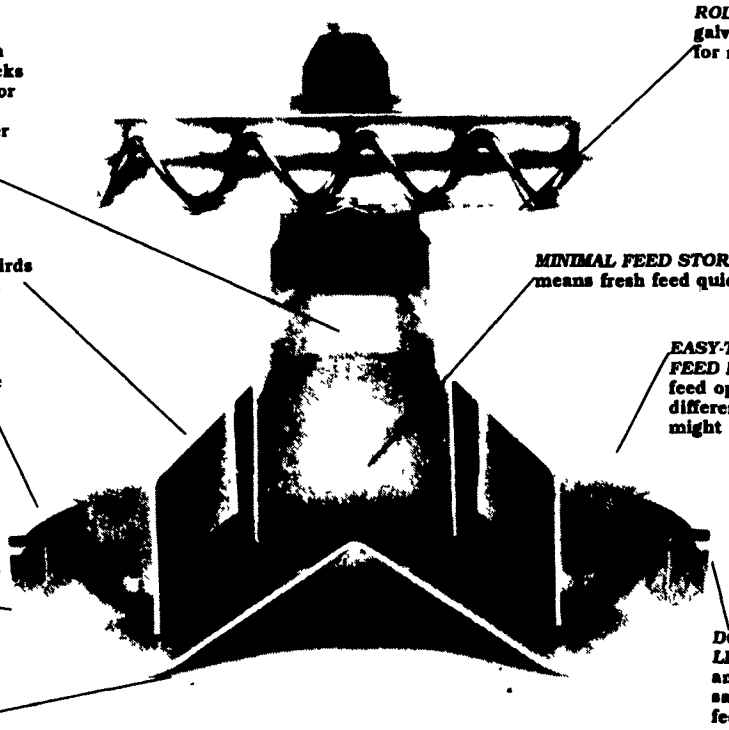
ROLL-FORMED TUBE is galvanized inside and out for rust-resistance.

LARGE DOME discourages growing birds from getting into pan.

MINIMAL FEED STORAGE within dome means fresh feed quickly to all birds.

SELF-LEVELING PAN — a patented Chore-Time feature — cuts feed waste and bird bruising since pans can swing.

EASY-TO-ADJUST FEED LEVEL lets you set feed opening to allow for different types of feed you might decide to use.



UNIQUE PAN SHAPE and low pan height is ideal for chicks, with no grill to obstruct eating. Pan has 13-inch diameter.

BUILT-IN HIGH CONE evenly distributes feed in pan, prevents stale feed buildup in feed level tube.

DOUBLE FEED-SAVER LIP on pan limits raking and billing and helps you save every bit of precious feed.

NAZARETH (Northampton Co.) — Perhaps nothing is more key to maintaining a steady dairy income than sustaining a high level of dairy health and having a shrewd biosecurity program, according to dairy experts.

Greg Solt, Penn State University dairy extension specialist in Northampton County said that more than telephoning the veterinarian when a problems becomes evident, dairymen can keep those emergency calls down through the help of a PSU handbook, "The Pennsylvania Dairy Health and Biosecurity Manual."

"I'd like to see one in the hands of every dairman," Solt said. And for several months he has been mailing excerpts to his county dairymen.

The more than 100-page, loose-leaf, ring-binder handbook sells for $8, less than the cost of most bull semen.

It was published by the PSU College of Agriculture in April 1989 and was compiled by extension veterinarians Larry Hutchinson, DVM, Tina Smith, DVM and veterinary assistant Carolyn Burns. There were 2,000 copies printed last year.

The illustrated, eight-chapter handbook is available through county extension offices.

As an example of the type of material included in the manual, the following is a portion of a chapter.

New Arrivals

Careful control of new arrivals reduces the risk of infectious disease being introduced and spread. Following the suggested procedures can greatly improve health and biosecurity on a farm.

Maintain a Closed Herd

A closed herd is one in which no new cattle are brought onto the premises. Unfortunately, for many reasons, there are not many truly closed herds. Many dairy producers exhibit animals at fairs and shows and return them to the herd, possibly introducing disease. Or, from necessity, dairy producers purchase replacement animals. Even exposure to other cattle across fences means that the herd cannot be considered closed. Although practicality may dictate some exceptions, maintaining a closed herd is desirable, and much can be done to help limit the introduction and spread of disease.

Bringing in bulls for natural service is another disease exposure risk. Instead, use artificial insemination, both for the genetic benefit it provides and also because it helps control infectious diseases. Available technology for breeding heifers artificially, including heat synchronization and heat detection aids, should eliminate the need for natural service and the resultant disease risks posed by purchasing bulls for this purpose.

Whenever possible, avoid exhibiting animals, then returning them directly to the herd. While not always practical, a 3-week isolation period after the show is desirable.

Homegrown replacements are the best, safest source for maintaining and increasing herd size. When it is necessary to purchase replacements, try to purchase open or bred heifers and don't bring them into the herd directly. Avoid fence line contact with other herds, if possible.

Isolate Incoming Animals

When isolating milk cows is not practical, minimize contact with the rest of the herd as much as possible. Milk new cows last.

Isolate any animal being added to a herd. Unfortunately, some farms do not have the facilities to do this, so it is not practiced often. But when animals are purchased or exhibited, it is desirable to move them onto the premises to a location where they will not be in direct contact with the rest of the herd. They should remain in this area for 21 to 30 days, long enough for any signs of most diseases to develop. Taking rectal temperatures every 24 to 48 hours will allow early detection of infectious disease. Obviously, if animals develop a disease, do not add them to the herd until they have recovered. The most common problem seen in purchased, exhibited, or transported animals is the bovine respiratory disease complex, which may result in some deaths or abortions.

Isolating herd additions also allows enough time to retest cattle for brucellosis. The selective purchase of non-lactating animals provides a better opportunity to isolate animals or at least to decrease contact with the rest of the herd.

Test Animals

All animals added to a herd should be tested for brucellosis and tuberculosis. The isolation period is a good time to do this if the new arrival is not from a test negative herd or is not an official vaccinated animal. An official blood test to check for brucellosis must be performed at an approved laboratory. A TB test can be performed and read on the farm by an accredited veterinarian.

Other tests on purchased cattle should be considered. If you plan to export or resell animals consider additional prepurchase testing. Testing is also recommended if you have active programs in place to control or maintain disease free status for some specific diseases, such as bluetongue, leukosis, anaplasmosis, Johne's disease, or Strep agalactia mastitis.

If you plan to purchase replacements, especially from out of state, and particularly if you plan to resell or export from your herd, discuss with your veterinarian the possible need for disease testing beyond what is legally required.

Have A Vaccination Program

The 21-to 30-day isolation period is a good time to vaccinate new arrivals against IBR, PI_3, BVD, BRSV, leptospirosis, and any other diseases that are included in your vaccination program. It is important to discuss with your veterinarian the possibilities, planning and development of a vaccination program that is appropriate for your herd.

Consider Brucellosis Vaccination

Brucellosis vaccination is primarily an economic decision, and secondarily one of disease control, rather than vice versa as is usually the case when deciding to vaccinate against a disease.

In Pennsylvania, only heifer calves between 4 and 8 months of age may be vaccinated. They must be permanently identified with a brucellosis vaccination tattoo and a permanent tag number. Vaccination can be done only by an accredited veterinarian, one approved to do regulatory work by federal and state governments.

Heifers need to be correctly identified since vaccinated animals that are not could be in jeopardy. For example, a vaccinated animal will develop a brucellosis antibody in her blood. Tests done later will detect the presence of the antibody. If there is no evidence of official vaccination, the animals would be classed as positive and would have to be slaughtered.

Similarly, a calf vaccinated after 8 months of age might maintain a high level of antibody into adulthood. Blood tests could reveal the presence and level of antibody. Many animals vaccinated at a late age are problems because of this high antibody level (titer). It is difficult to distinguish between high titers due to vaccination or the field strain of Brucella abortus. Often these over-age animals are classed as suspects and need a series of retests to gain negative status. Some have such a high persistent titer that they are classed as positives.

The degree of protection provided by Strain 19 Brucella abortus vaccine is often debated. As with any vaccine, we know it is not 100 percent effective. Reasonable estimates are that 65 percent of animals are protected against systemic infection by Brucella abortus. About 85 percent are protected from the abortive effects of the disease. Regardless of this debate, it is unquestionable that the vaccine has been a useful tool when and where many cows were infected. Federal and state regulations require that brucellosis exposed animals be slaughtered. This is the only way to avoid latent infection, lingering outbreaks, and frustration with the eradication effort.

Some states will not allow an animal to enter the state unless it has been officially vaccinated. Many buyers of replacement heifers and cows either will not buy unvaccinated animals or will pay a premium for vaccinees, making the decision to vaccinate one of economics. If you anticipate selling cows or heifers in the future, it is probably to your advantage to have them vaccinated, even though a few foreign countries will not permit vaccinated animals to enter.

Value and Limitations Of A Health Certificate

When a new animal is purchased, a health certificate should be requested. There are advantages to viewing a health certificate prior to the purchase of an animal, but this document has its limitations as well.

A health certificate contains information about the origin and destination of animals, an accurate animal description including ear tag and tattoo numbers, breed registration numbers, and current disease test dates. Results of tests must be recorded as well as dates of administration of vaccinations and products used. The certificate may also specify the herd health status of the herd of origin, and it will be signed and dated by an accredited veterinarian certifying that at the time of the exam, the livestock are free from evidence of, and have not recently been exposed to, contagious or parasitic disease.

Obtaining a health certificate assures that at the time of the exam the previously mentioned information is true. Keep in mind that a health certificate is good for 30 to 60 days from the time it is written. If an animal is examined on day I and sold or shipped on, for example, day 30, ample time has passed for the animal to become infected with a new disease or exhibit a previously undetectable disease that she has been incubating.

In summary, a health certificate accompanying new arrival animals may indeed decrease the chance of introducing contagious disease into a herd, but a completely disease free animal cannot be guaranteed.

Preservation Board Accepts Applications

Robert E. Leiby and David L. Dunbar
Lehigh County Cooperative Extension Office

The Lehigh County Agricultural Land Preservation Board is again accepting applications from eligible landowners interested in selling agricultural conservation easements to Lehigh County and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Lehigh County landowners with farms enrolled in agricultural security areas are eligible to apply to sell their development rights through the County's Agricultural Conservation Easement Program. The deadline for applications is Monday, October 1, 1990.

In the first application period earlier this year, 10 landowners applied to sell their development rights on over 1,000 acres of farmland in the county. Using a ranking system that considers soil quality and location factors, the Lehigh County Agricultural Land Preservation Board selected the top six scoring farms for appraisal. The board's appraiser is currently determining the value of these six potential conservation easements. As soon as the appraisals are completed, the board will begin purchase negotiations for the development rights on these six farms.

Any landowner interested in this program should contact Jeff Zehr, staff for the board, by calling (215) 820-3398 or by stopping by the Lehigh County Agricultural Center, Suite 105, 4184 Dorney Park Road, Allentown, PA 18104.

BARN CLEANERS

Built to clean faster... built to last longer!

All-forged Hook-Link® chain... available on Super 300 and Super 500 barn cleaners
Extra thick steel at all wear points

IMPORTANT: Look for the "parting line" on any barn cleaner chain you buy. It shows where excess metal has been trimmed off. It is your assurance that the link was totally forged, not just punched out of a flat steel bar with grain flow in one direction only.
You want a totally-forged link because forging changes the grain on the steel, causing it to curve in unbroken flow lines around the contours of the link, giving the link greater strength to serve you longer.

Traskdale Pete An Bast Repeats As Holstein Champ

VAL VAN TASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Traskdale Pete An Bast was the champion of the Eastern Pennsylvania Championship Holstein Show for the second year in a row. An Bast is owned by Dale Hostetter and Tom Lyon and was shown by Alan Hostetter.

The six-year-old Straight Pine Elevation Pete daughter combined good looks with durability. Judge Oren Bender appreciated the aged cow's outstanding mammary system as well as dairy character and body capacity.

According to Alan, the cow also took championship honors at the Lebanon County Fair. Holstein enthusiasts statewide will have a chance to see the cow at the Fall Classic.

June and Eugene Corl hoped for big things at the Eastern Show and they weren't disappointed. Their four-year-old, Ajay Desire Elevation Carol, was named as the reserve champion. Bender described Carol as "a well-built, sharp stylish cow." The Holler-View Elevation Marc daughter had a mammary to match and received best udder designation for her class.

The Corls had a lot of reasons to celebrate. "We had all firsts (place class winners)," June said. "We had been at the central championship and we weren't as happy with the results."When asked if the animals would appear at the Fall Classic, June said, "You bet!"

If Bender could have picked three champions, Penn Gate Farms would have followed An Bast and Carol in honors. Penn Gate Enhancer Fashion got her own piece of the spotlight when she was named best bred-and-owned at the show. Bender called the five-year-old a handsome animal with a lot of class and a tremendous udder. "This is an animal that could make a lot of milk," he said.

Penn Gate's success didn't end there. Another home-bred animal, Penn Gate Bouton Duchess, caught Bender's eye and he chose her as the junior champion.

Steve Wood was particularly pleased with the senior calf's placing. "She has two generations of excellent 30,000 -pound dams behind her."

Wood explained that the sharp-looking calf had some tough competition on the show circuit this summer. "She's been placing behind another one of our calves. We left the other animal at home this time. I actually like Duchess better."

Penn Gate also had another class winner.

The reserve junior champion went to Melynn Dixie Crat Vaugh. The intermediate heifer was bred-and-owned by Melvin Shertzer, Millersville. The Ocean-View Dixiecrat daughter was shown by Matthew Welk.

Pennwood Farm, Morgantown, won both the Premier Exhibitor and Breeder Awards for the show. According to Harvey Stoltzfus, the key to the victory was consistency. "We had 10 animals here and won just one class, the best three females. But we had an awful lot of seconds." It was also the Stoltzfus family's second year as premier breeder.

The youth show held a big surprise for Peter Sonnon, Richland. "I never expected to win the grand championship. I've never won a grand before!" Peter's senior two-year-old, Sonnen-Acres Starbuck Dulci, was third in her class during the open show. The big showy animal is a Hanover Hill Starbuck daughter and was bred by Glen Sonnen.

Following close behind was Daview Pete Ginger, a four-year-old owned and bred by Jeffrey Davis, Leesport. A former Eastern Holstein Show junior champion, Bender commented that he was pleased that she had lived up to her promise. Bender was impressed with Ginger's mammary system, particularly the height and width of rear udder attachment.

Jennifer Miller, Andreas, won the junior youth championship with her intermediate calf. Den Al Mark Beth was bred on the Miller - Rex Farm and was sired by Walkaway Chief Mark. The animal was also the junior champion of the open show at the Schuylkill Fair. "There's a lot more competition here," Miller said.

Among the competitors was reserve junior champion Sarah Kennel. Her junior yearling, MSV Fantastic Mandy, was by far the biggest animal in her class. "Young lady, you'd better stop feeding this animal or soon it'll outgrow you," Bender teased. Not only was the judge impressed by the animal's "upstandingness", but he also commented on her good type. Sarah said she was surprised by the win. "I don't think she has very much body capacity," she said. The ten-year-old was probably the only person at the show that held that opinion.

The big yearling was the reserve junior champion in the junior division of the Lancaster Co. show, according to her owner.

PSU Dairymen Seek Nominees For Award

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Do you know someone that has made a significant contribution to the dairy industry in the state of Pennsylvania, or someone that has worked for years without recognition, but has faithfully served the dairy industry?

Perhaps there is someone in your community that typifies what a "true dairymen and community member" should be.

If you know such a person then submit their name, address, and why they are your choice for the "Penn State Dairymen's Club Service Award."

The candidate need not be a club member, but must be a deserving person that has worked for the benefit of the dairy industry in the state of Pennsylvania. It can be a dairyman, an extension person, an educator and/or teacher, it could be a businessperson from the lending field, a nurtionist, a dairy processor, or perhaps a dairy marketing professional.

Currently nominees are being sought for the first recipient to be recognized on November 1, 1990. The recognition will be part of the Dairymen's Club Annual Meeting, to be held in State College on Thursday, November 1, 1990. The Annual Meeting is being held on the eve of the 1990 Nittany Lion Fall Classic.

All nominations should be submitted in writing to the Penn State Dairymen's Club, Mrs. Melanie Bachman, 205 Borland Lab, University Park, PA 16802. The deadline for nominations is October 19, 1990.

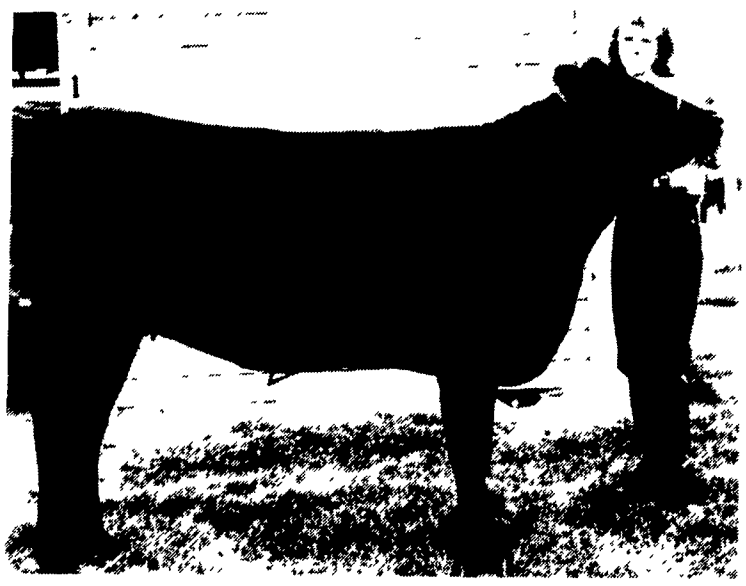
Hereford, Angus Share York Fair Supreme Beef Titles

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — DRS Knight Fire continued a winning streak when he was named supreme open class beef bull at the York Fair.

Carrying his 2,500 pounds on a massive but well-conformed frame and strong legs and feet, Knight Fire got the nod over competing breed bull champions from Judge Gail Long, Centre County.

The supreme champion is owned by DRS Polled Herefords, David and Julie Shultz, Wellsville and Kevin Diehl, Fairfield. His winning of the Hereford championship is a repeat of last year's York Fair show, and he recently took similar honors at the Maryland State Fair. Born January, 1988, Knight Fire is sired by Knight Ryder and his dam is Fox Fire.



Supreme champion of the York Fair open beef show was the Angus champion exhibited by 4-Her Sandy Eisenhour.

For the second consecutive year, Wellsville 4-H exhibitor Sandy Eisenhour took the supreme champion heifer banner with her Angus champion. Born April, 1989, "JoJo" is sired by Madison Avenue. Sandy purchased her in January from GH2 Angus.

While the heifer won reserve champion honors earlier this season at the York 4-H Fair, Sandy had no expectations of winning the supreme banner for a second time. In her tenth year of exhibiting 4-H beef cattle, Sandy is 18 and a graduate of Dover, and plans to attend business school in January.

In the breed show, Chianina bull and female championship honors went to Moving "M" Farm, Larry and Donna Moore.

Moving "M" also exhibited the reserve champion female, while reserve bull honors were claimed by Michele Hosterman, Millheim.

Gene and Linda Moose, Gettysburg, exhibited both grand and reserve bulls in the Santa Gertrudis competition. Grand champion female title went to Rib Eye Ranch, Columbia, with Twin Acres Farm, Gettysburg, finishing in the reserve place.

George Snyder's G and J Valley Farm, Spring Grove, got the nod for champion Simmental bull and Lisa Hoover exhibited the reserve winner. Both grand and reserve female championships went to Dunkard Valley Farm, the Myers family, Dallastown.

DRS' Polled Herefords capped their breed bull championship with the supreme win, while reserve Hereford bull honors were taken by GlesBrook Farm, Duaine Glessner, Waynesboro. Female champion title was won by Jeremy Osterstock, Lenhartsville, over the reserve winner exhibited by MAP Farm, Womelsdorf.

Ray and Mary Grimes, South Mountain Farm, McKnightstown, exhibited both grand and reserve champion Charolais bull, as well as the champion female. The Jack Myers family's Dunkard Valley Farm took reserve champion female honors.

Angus bull champion rosette went to the entry of Jennifer Calderazzo, York, with reserve bull honors taken by T&J Farm, Dover. Sandy Eisenhour's supreme heifer topped her Angus breed female classes over the reserve grand champion female exhibited by Jennifer Calderazzo.

In a combined other breeds show, Lenape Limousin, Telford, exhibited the grand and reserve champion bulls, and took the female championship as well. Reserve grand champion female was won by the entry of Brian Linebaugh, Abbottstown.

Following is a partial list of open class beef winners.

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — Two first-time winners claimed champion honors at the York Fair's 4-H beef fitting competition.

Ed Livingston, Dover, is usually too busy fitting cattle behind the scenes to take time out to enter the fitting competition. This year, the 17-year-old 4-H member decided to just take the time to participate, and finished with the champion awards.

With only one year left in his 4-H career, Ed has picked up a wealth of fitting tips. But at the top of his list is cleanliness, with a bath every morning for a winning entry. Taking time at night to hose and cool his charges with a shower encourages longer hair growth, he believes.

Reserve champion fitter elizabeth Bishard, York, credits her dad, Brad Bishard, and 4-H beef leader Gordon Shive with teaching her to fit to the runner-up spot. Elizabeth, 14, is a six-year veteran of 4-H beef competition.

Ed Livingston topped the senior division, over second place Jason Stein, Wrightsville, and third place winner Nichole willwert, Red Lion. Elizabeth Bishard headed up the 13- & 14-years-age group, with Keith Grubb, Hanover, second, and Joyce Stough, Seven Valleys, third.

Suzanne Bishard exhibited her Angus steer to reserve champion honors at the York Fair 4-H steer show. Judge Gail Long offered his congratulations.

Winner of the 11 & 12-year-age class was Suzanne Bishard, York, who bested second placing Jason Baer, Brodbecks, and Jennifer Altobelli, Dover, third. Junior age class honors went to Philip Baer, Brodbecks, over Tammi Grubb, Hanover, second, and Jarrod Schiding, Dallastown, third.

Veteran 4-H beef showmen Cathy Shive, Seven Valleys, and Susan Eisenhour, Wellsville, took the champion and reserve spots in the showmanship competition overall, and in their senior age category. Third senior was Sandra Eisenhour, Wellsville.

Winning showman in the 13- & 14-year group was Keith Grubb, Hanover, while second went to Joyce Stough, Seven Valleys, and Elizabeth Bishard, York, placed third. Jennifer Altobelli, Dover, took first in the 11- & 12-year group, with suzanne Bishard, York, second, and Jason Baer, Brodbecks, third.

Junior showman honors went to Jamie Reid, Dallastown, first, Philip Baer, Brodbecks, second, and Raymond Stough, Seven Valleys, third.

Multiple Component Pricing Plan Proposed For Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio

KARL BERGER
Special Correspondent

PITTSBURG (Allegheny Co.) — Dairy farmers in western Pennsylvania may join their colleagues in the Mid-Atlantic area in implementing multiple component pricing if a proposal presented by Milk Marketing Inc., successfully makes it way through the regulatory process.

MMI, the largest dairy cooperative in the region, has advanced a component pricing plan for the three federal orders in which it primarily operates: federal orders 49, 33 and 36. Order 36, the Eastern Ohio-Western Pennsylvania Order, regulates about 5,000 dairymen who supply milk to Pittsburgh, Cleveland and surrounding areas. The 6,500-member MMI supplies roughly 40 percent of the 300 million pounds pooled monthly in that order and larger shares in each of the other two orders, according to cooperative officials.

U.S. Department of Agriculture officials, who oversee the nationwide federal order system, heard six days of testimony on the MMI pricing plan and other proposals to amend the three orders between Aug. 14 and Aug. 29. After weighing that evidence and additional written comments, they will issue a recommended decision on the proposed changes that is subject to the approval of dairymen in each of the three orders.

Like a similar proposal under consideration for Federal Order 4, the Middle Atlantic Order, MMI's plan follows the same basic outline as the multiple component pricing system now in place in the Great Basin Order in the Rocky Mountain region.

Should it be approved, dairymen would no longer be paid based on volume and the butterfat content of their milk. Rather, their overall price would be the result of three separate factors: a butterfat price per pound times the amount of butterfat, a similar protein price times protein content and a relatively tiny fluid price (reflecting the value of the Class I differential) times their total volume.

Class I handlers who buy milk for fluid use would continue to pay for milk as they do now, based solely on volume and butterfat. But buyers of Class II and III milk for manufacturing purposes also would pay for milk according to its protein and fat contents.

However, James Sleper, a market analyst for MMI, said the cooperative's plan departs from the Great Basin model in several key respects.

From a dairyman's perspective, perhaps the most important difference is MMI's introduction of a somatic cell count adjustment in computing the protein price. If adopted as proposed, the MMI scheme sould establish what Sleper called "a neutral range" for somatic cell counts between 400,000 and 500,000 per milliliter. For each 100,000-cell reduction in counts, a dairyman could expect a few extra cents per pound of protein, perhaps an extra two cents on a base price of $3 a pound, for example. Conversely, his protein price would decline slightly if somatic cell counts exceeded the neutral range.

In testimony he presented at the hearing, Sleper said the somatic cell count modification, which is similar to the way many existing protein premium programs now operate, would insure that producers and handlers use "the true economic value of protein."

Currently, about 65 percent of Order 36's producers are eligible to participate in some form of protein pricing or other multiple component pricing program provided by individual handlers, according to Sleper. MMI itself has had such a program in place since 1983, he noted. However, the proliferation of many different programs destabilizes the market while still leaving some dairymen without access to such markets, Sleper added.

Adopting an order-wide approach would allow all dairymen to benefit from higher protein production. It also would send the proper pricing signals to farmers at a time when butterfat values are declining and nonfat solids are rising in value, according to Sleper.

"The proponents believe a milk pricing system should send a clear economic signal to the dairy producer on what milk components are in the greatest demand and have the greatest economic value within the marketplace," Sleper testified.

In comparison to the current system in the three federal orders, the MMI plan would boost the fortunes of those farmers whose milk exceeded the market average and penalize those whose protein content is less than average. However, the "winners" and "losers" in this context would be relatively minor. Most farmers would see differences of no more than 20 cents a hundredweight, Sleper said.

The market analyst is hopeful that USDA officials will eventually approve the plan. "We built a very strong case for multiple component pricing," he said. However, he added that the slow pace of the regulatory process would not yield an answer before the end of 1991 at the earliest.

Sale time at Doebler's

1991 SEED CORN AT '84 PRICES

By Willard Jones

I'm Willard Jones, Doebler's sales manager, with best seed corn prices of year.

Doebler's Turn the Clock Back Sale is in full swing. And savings add up quick.

Like $574.00 on 50 bushels of 84XP, 66XP and other super singles.

Or $255.90 on 30 bushels of such top commercial single crosses as 86XA and 75X.

Or $132.60 on a 20-bushel order of our popular three ways.

We're talking savings of 16%, 14% and 13%. Not bad for a six month investment in '91 seed corn.

According to my figuring, it would take a six month, $11,480 CD earning 10% simple interest to match that $574 in savings.

Fair warning. Doebler's 1991 hybrid seed corn prices will never be lower than this fall. And there's no holding back on our hottest numbers.

How to write your own deal

Buy 10 or more bushels of Doebler seed corn during fall sale and you get an automatic discount. Order 150-499 bushels, and earn $6 discount per bu.; 50-149 bu., $5; 25-49 bu., $2.50; 10-24 bu., $1.50.

Subtract quantity discount then pay cash for order before November 15 for 10% Early Pay bonus.

For example, sale price of super singles is $69.80.

Subtract $5 per bushel for 50 bushel order. $69.80–$5=$64.80.

Pay by November 15, take 10% bonus. $64.80–$6.48=$58.32.

You save $11.48 per bushel. Or $574 on full order.

Plant 100 acres, pay these prices

It'll take 28 bushels of Doebler medium flats to plant 100 acres. That's at 24,000 kernels per acre.

Here's what you pay:

Only $60.57
for super singles like 84XP and 45XP after full discounts. Plateless seed, $58.77.

A low, low $54.27
after all discounts for our 15 commercial singles. Including new 61X and 29XA. Plateless, $52.47.

Will you believe $49.77 for 75X-MOD after taking all discounts? Looks like, yields like the great 75X. Plateless, $47.97.

A bargain $45.27
for all Doebler's three ways after full discounts. And don't miss the newest — 650A. Plateless, $41.67.

Save more money with Doebler's 56-lb bag. It takes 28 bushel bags of Doebler's medium flats to plant 100 acres compared to 30 bags of 80,000 unit stuff. Savings? Another $110-$140 for farmer planting Doebler's.

All American To Host 1,400 Junior Dairymen

HARRISBURG — Move over dairymen. Here come 1400 dairy-smart kids from Maine to California ready to compete in the 1990 Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show here September 24-27.

According to show manager Charles Itle, the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Pageant banquet at the Sheraton East Saturday evening, September 22, will kick off six days of junior dairyman activities. All other events will be held at the Farm Show Complex.

By the time the junior grand champion Holstein is selected Thursday, September 27, the show manager noted, the PA All-American and sponsoring groups will have staged five junior dairy shows, three junior judging contests and a Careers and Opportunities Night.

A few records also will be broken along the way, Itle predicted.

"For the first time ever," he said, "four dairy breeds will hold national junior shows. They include the Brown Swiss and Milking Shorthorn September 25; Ayrshire, September 26; and Holsteins September 27.

Cattle entries also will set a new mark for the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show, it is disclosed by Duane Duncan, Cumberland County extension agent. "We're well over 1000," he commented. Old record of 996 animals was made in 1989.

Some 3700 4-H and FFA kids showed dairy animals at local and regional events for the right to compete in the state finals, he said.

Pennsylvania farm youngsters also will have a chance to test their judging skills and farm knowledge in the State 4-H and FFA Dairy Judging Forum Tuesday a.m., September 25. About 400 will participate.

Biggest national draw among the junior set will be the Invitational Youth Dairy Cattle Judging Contest at 8 a.m. Monday, September 24. Intercollegiate, 4-H and FFA contestants are expected from at least 22 states, Itle reported.

Winning the title of "toughest junior contest" should again go to the Junior Dairyman Contest Tuesday morning, September 25. Among other things, commitee chairman Carl Brown said, FFA and 4-H members must judge a heifer class; evaluate cows on ten type traits; identify feeds, forages and cuts of meat; and make management decisions based on DHIA records.

Youngsters get a welcome change of pace at Careers and Opportunities Night in the Small Arena Sunday night, September 23. Penn State, Delaware Valley College, Alfred College and University of Maryland are already signed up. More are expected.

For a festive note, Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program and the American Dairy Association will set up a fully stocked dairy bar for make-your-own sundaes, PDPP's Lolly Lesher disclosed.

For a program brochure or other information, write Charles Itle, Manager, Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, Farm Show Complex, 2301 N. Cameron St., Harrisburg, Pa. 17110-9408, or Call 717-787-2905.

PSU Researcher Needs To Locate Bats

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — A researcher at Penn State University is looking to bats for information on mechanisms of sperm longevity and the control of fertilization. Most species of bats in Pennsylvania store viable spermatozoa in their reproductive tracts for up to 8 months of the year, a phenomenon unparallelled by any other mammalian species whose sperm usually die within several days. Dr. Beth Crichton, a visiting Professor in the Department of Molecular and Cell Biology, is using this unique aspect of bat reproductive biology to answer fundamental questions on factors that control sperm life. Such research could be applicable to the storage of sperm for artificial insemination and in vitro fertilization procedures in agricultural animals and humans.

Dr. Crichton would appreciate hearing from anyone who has bats on their property that she might use in her research. Since these species of bats will shortly enter hibernation for the winter, she is anxious to obtain some fall roosting localities as soon as possible as well as to learn of sites where bats overwinter.

If you have information that will help this research project call (814) 865-5497 or write to Dr. Beth Crichton, Dept. of Molecular & Cell Biology.

judge, Gary Dean, a Lancaster 4-H leader, was looking for just the right combination.

That combination was found in a 1,265-pound purebred Angus, bred, raised, and groomed to a supreme beef championship at the fair.

Owner Elizabeth Bishard, who placed the steer first in the opening Angus Class 4 of the show, had to compete against a Chianina champion (owned by Allen Werner) and a Simmental champion, Joyce Stough of Winter Spring Farms — steers that just happened to be a little too big in frame and lacking in other important characteristics, according to Dean.

The champion was bred at South Branch Farms, York. The steer "combined everything into one package," said Dean. "He had a lot of meat and muscle to him. He was probably the most ideal in his handling qualities, and ideal as far as the amount of finish and conditioning."

What the market looks for, according to the judge, is the meat and muscle. Bishard's champion had a lot of uniformity in thickness from front to rear and nicely squared out over the hump, according to Dean.

It was a question of the total package and putting all the important qualities into one steer. The steer was structurally correct and was a good meat animal.

Not only did the Angus breed pick up supreme steer champion, but the reserve supreme champion was won by an Angus cross owned by Ed Livingston, champion of the other breeds category.

Other champions were Sue Eisenhour, reserve champion Angus steer; Orcen Little, Charolais; Jennifer Altobelli, champion Hereford; Eugene Hunt, reserve champion Hereford; Winter Spring Farms, champion Simmental; Kris Kaiser, reserve champion Simmental; Allen Werner, champion Chianina; Nichole Willwert, reserve champion Chianina; and Jason Rankin, reserve champion other breeds.

the 14-year-old youth, exhibiting a purebred Hampshire bred by the Ron Trostle family. His winning lamb was one of five entered in the competition by Sellers, son of Phil and Shirley Sellers.

Matt Trostle snagged the reserve champion spot, then added to his trophy take with a champion win in the market lamb pairs category. All the 11-year-old winners, part of a string of 20 head he exhibited, were purebred Hampshires from the Trostle family's breeding lines. Matt is the son of Ron and Yvonne Trostle and a fourth-year 4-H exhibitor.

Taking the reserve champion pair was nine-year-old Jennifer Flinchbaugh, York. Her winning pair was a Hampshire and a Dorset, well-matched in weight and carcass conformation.

Champion of the light weight division was Heather Moyer, Hanover, and reserve champion was Maria Graybill, Hanover. Medium weight champion honors went to Amy Dutrey, Dallastown, with Adam Sellers, Thomasville, in the reserve champion spot.

Light heavyweight honors went to champion Matt Trostle, over reserve winner Jennifer Flinchbaugh. In the heavyweight division, Matt Sellers, Thomasville, took the championship over Jennifer Flinchbaugh's reserve placing.

Winners in the market lamb pairs lightweight division were Angie Shaffer, East Berlin, champion, and Tina Shaffer, East Berlin, reserve. Medium weight pairs honors went to Amy Dutrey, champion, and Greg Bankert, Hanover, reserve. Light heavyweight champion was Matt Trostle, over Mike Klinedinst, Stewartstown, in reserve. Jennifer Flinchbaugh claimed champion honors in the heavyweight pairs category, over Matt Trostle in the reserve placing.

Judge for the York Fair's market lamb competition was Tim Fleener of Robesonia.

Some Of The Best Sheep In State Win At York

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

YORK (York Co.) — What the market looks for in sheep breeds are the three S's: stretch, stoutness, and standing.

And that's what the champions of the York Fair exhibited to judge David Harpster, Boalsburg, Centre Co., at the sheep supreme championship show Monday night.

Ed Keeney won the supreme champion ram with his Hampshire yearing ram at the show. The supreme champion ewe was a Southdown shown by Kelly Carpenter.

Harpster was impressed with the competition at the show, which he described as one of the best shows in the state.

Harpster had a tough time deciding what ram champion to pick. In the end, it came down to two, a Southdown ram and Keeney's Hampshire ram. Harpster liked the Southdown's stretch and stoutness. But the Hampshire clearly was the standout of the two.

"I like the balance, cleanliness, and thickness in the legs of it," said Harpster. "This is a ram I feel is a real big, real strong, real stout kind of ram, the kind of Hamp rams that we're looking for in the industry."

Harpster believes the ram "could stand a lot more competition" than what the animal withstood on Monday.

Harpster liked the overall breed characteristics, the length of body, height, and the overall balance in the ram.

"I just liked his overall volume," he said. "He'd do a lot of Hamp breeders in Pennsylvania a lot of good."

Kelly Carpenter displayed the champion ewe at the competition. Harpster was impressed with the Southdown ewe's breed characteristics and overall balance.

He told the audience that "you will go a long way before you see the kind of ewes that we have out here in front of you today. You will go to a lot of county fairs and not see the quality that is standing out here. I feel that the sheep can go on out of here to bigger and better shows than what we have here."

At the tender age of 5, Travis Flory took York Fair open class market lamb reserve champion honors with his Suffolk purebred entry.

Brown Swiss Receive National Recognition

BELOIT, Wis. — Two Pennsylvania Brown Swiss dairymen, two from Ohio and one from New York state received special recognition recently for owning cows which produced high amounts of milk.

The recognition comes from the National Brown Swiss Association, which, through Dairy Herd Improvement Association records, tracks high producing cows of the breed and takes note of especially high producers.

In Pennsylvania, a six-year-old cow, Ruth Delegate Rose, produced 25,190 pounds of milk in less than 305 days for Bruce and Richard Heilinger of Newmanstown. Rose also tested out with 1,022 pounds of fat and 990 pounds of protein in her milk.

Meadow Hill Jubilant Precious, owned by Gary Mase, of Lebanon, has been nationally recognized for producing 25,080 pounds of milk, 925 pounds of fat and 910 pounds of protein over the past 306 to 365 days.

From Ohio, two cows owned by William K. Watkins, of Belmont, earned recognition for milk production during the past 306 to 365 days. Fow Trail Treasure, a 4-year-old, produced 24,790 pounds of milk, 1,032 fat and 862 pounds of protein. Fox Trail Tara, at 5-years, 10-months produced 25,280 pounds of milk, 1,022 pounds of fat and 952 pounds of protein.

La Rainbow Sweet Cherish, at 7-years, 9-months, produced 26,320 pounds milk, 1,255 pounds of fat and 934 pounds of protein. She is owned by La Rainbow Farms, in New Knoxville.

In New York state, Ka Cy Cheryl, a 6-year, 6-month-old produced 24,740 pounds of milk, 1,043 pounds fat, and 957 pounds of protein. She is owned by Ka-Cy Farms, of Medina.

Achievement Days Great For 4-Hers

MONTROSE (Susquehanna Co.) — At the recent Penn State 4-H Achievement Days, Susquehanna County had a very good showing of local 4-H talent.

4-H Achievement Days is a three-day event that brings talented 4-H members together from across Pennsylvania to compete on a state level. Many of the individuals and teams that win have an opportunity to compete further in upcoming national contests. The event provides a very good opportunity for youth to meet many others from across the state and it also gives the youth a taste of what college life is like.

In the state tractor driving contest, Susquehanna County had two second place finishes. Gordon Moore finished second in the compact tractor division and Joshua Harvatine finished second in the large tractor division. Steve Tewksbury also participated in the large tractor contest and finished ninth.

Cathy and Michele Pavelski participated in the dairy judging contest. Cathy placed 11th overall and Michele placed 25th out of 80 dairy judges.

Jane Wright, Earl Cottrell, and Melinda Garner took part in the dairy bowl contest. They made it through the first few rounds and received red awards.

Karen Casterline, Abbey Lewis, and Lori and Tracy Coale placed 13th as the horse judging team. Karen was 22nd in individual placing. Elisa Foltz participated in Hippology as an individual.

In orienteering, Ruthann Knighton and Julie Wilmot finished as the ninth placed team. Tim Empet placed 22nd in the junior riflery contest. Dana Harvatine placed 19th in the clothing and textiles contest.

Separating Fat From Fiction

NEW YORK, NY — According to a recent survey commissioned by the International Food Information Council and the American Dietetic Association, consumers have difficulty applying their nutrition know-how when it comes to dietary fat. To test your nutritional I.Q., take this quiz on dietary fat from Dairy Council Inc.:

True or False?

1. Some foods are inherently good for you, while others should be eliminated from the diet.

2. In order to follow current advice to limit calories from fat to 30 percent, high-fat foods should be eliminated from the diet.

3. Low-fat or no-fat foods are more nutritious than foods with fat.

Multiple Choice

4. Which has more fat?
   a. a croissant
   b. a tablespoon of mayonnaise
   c. both are equal

5. Which of these dairy products is lowest in fat?
   a. lowfat fruit yogurt (1 cup)
   b. lowfat cottage cheese (½ cup)
   c. parmesan cheese (1 tablespoon)
   d. all are equal

6. Which of the following supplies the greatest amount of fat in our food supply?
   a. meats
   b. daity products
   c. fats/oils/others

Answers

(True/False)

1. False. There are no "good" or "bad" foods, only "good" or "bad" diets. A variety of foods in moderation from the four food groups is the key to a well-balanced, healthy diet.

2. False. Foods with a high fat content can be part of the diet when they are balanced by lower fat trade-offs. While fat is an important consideration, so are nutrients the food contains. If fat is used as the sole criterion, it's possible that the diet could be low in calcium or iron.

3. False. Low-fat foods are not necessarily more nutritious. A diet soda, for example, contains no fat . . . it also has almost no nutritive value. An avocado, on the other hand, contains fat, but also provides many essential nutrients such as vitamins A and C.

(Multiple Choice)

4. (c) Both are equal - about 10 grams.

5. (d) All are equal - about 3 grams.

6. (c) Fats/oils/others (50 percent), followed by meat (37 percent) and then dairy (12 percent).

Doctor Credits Supportive Family For Her Ability To Provide Medical And Coroner Services

BY BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.) — "Everybody deserves good care," says Dr. Leah Maitland. She ought to know; she's been dispensing good care to people for 35 years.

Currently the medical director of Gettysburg Hospital, Maitland also oversees the Adams County Migrant Health clinics, works in the emergency room, and serves as Adams County's coroner. Several years ago, as director of the emergency room, she started the Medic Service.

Oddly enough, Dr. Maitland's work in private practice in Littlestown from 1955 to 1985 led to her interest in emergency services.

Gettysburg Hospital, like most hospitals in the early 1970s, did not have a doctor in the emergency room full-time, Dr. Maitland explained. A doctor outside the hospital would be on call.

"I stayed here at night with my obstetrical patients," Maitland said, "so the nurses in the emergency room called me" when an emergency case came in.

In 1974, hospital officials decided they needed an emergency room with an in-house physician. Dr. Maitland was one of six or seven doctors who shared those duties.

"I worked a lot of hours," she said.

At age 67, she still does. An average day as medical director lasts about ten hours. In that role, Dr. Maitland acts as a liaison between the administrative staff and the medical staff, keeps up with legislation affecting health care, and oversees utilization review, which concerns the quality of patient care. She also handles a steady stream of paperwork.

aspects of their lives. "Some stay here over the winter and work in local factories. But if they stay too long, they will lose their migrant status, and won't be eligible for the clinic," she explained, noting that some go back to Mexico for a brief period in the winter. Then they will start harvesting crops in Florida and follow the harvest northward for several months.

Another of Dr. Maitland's responsibilities is her role as coroner. "It's a job that isn't a popular one, and a lot of people don't want it, but it has to be done," she said.

"The government makes more and more" of that, she said.

Dr. Maitland is dedicated to Gettysburg Hospital. Says John Eline, director of community relations, "She is a driving force behind many of the hospital's successful efforts. One of her primary concerns is quality assurance in patient care."

Every other weekend Dr. Maitland works in the emergency room. "That lets me keep my fingers in medicine. I'm not ready to quit seeing patients," she said.

"If the crops aren't good, they'll take general maintenance jobs. They will take jobs other people won't take," she added.

Family Background

Originally from Wrightsville, York County, Dr. Maitland graduated from Florida State University and Temple University School of Medicine. Even though she attended medical school in the 1950s, when fewer women than today became doctors, she did not feel discriminated against. "There is not as much discrimination in medicine as in other things," she said.

Dr. Maitland gave birth to twin daughters during her senior year of medical school; her son was born during her internship, and another daughter arrived during her first year of general practice.

Dr. Maitland also sees patients at the year-round Adams County Migrant Health Clinic. "We had three migrant babies (born here) last week," she said. "They're the only hospital patients I see anymore."

While Dr. Maitland is responsible for the migrants' medical care, she is also concerned about other another daughter arrived during her first year of general practice.

"I had a supportive family," she said, noting that her husband's parents lived near her in Littlestown. An elderly aunt lived with Maitland's family and helped with household tasks.

Adams County Coroner

Another of Dr. Maitland's responsibilities is her role as coroner. "It's a job that isn't a popular one, and a lot of people don't want it, but it has to be done," she said.

Dr. Maitland was a deputy coroner for many years before being elected to her current post seven years ago.

About seven or eight times a month, Dr. Maitland is called to pronounce dead, those who have died a sudden, unattended death. Maitland said that while she feels saddest at Sudden Infant Death Syndrome cases, she also feels sorry for the intoxicated driver who goes out and hits a tree, and for the family left behind.

I could never be an undertaker," she added. "I'd cry at every funeral."

Even with the recent passage of the Coroner's Education Act, which mandates a week-long course for coroners, Maitland thinks that coroner's training in the state is inadequate.

"Pennsylvania's system is poor. There should be trained, qualified medical examiners," she said.

Because small counties such as Adams cannot afford to have a separate, fully-staffed coroner's office, Maitland thinks the state should be divided into population centers, each having a medical examiner. Now, many local autopsies go to Allentown, and, in murder cases, the doctor from Allentown must travel to Adams County to testify at the trial.

Dr. Maitland's desire to provide excellent care extends to her job as coroner. She uses six deputy coroners who live in different parts of the county so that the police and/or survivors are not kept waiting in case she is not immediately available.

Dr. Maitland credits a supportive family for her ability to combine doctoring and family.

Maitland said that, while she feels saddest at Sudden Infant Death Syndrome cases, she also feels sorry for the intoxicated driver who goes out and hits a tree, and for the family left behind.

Homestead Notes

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Every once in a while, a continuing string of unfavorable circumstances will unfold telling you that something you're attempting maybe isn't supposed to be.

Like haymaking in September.

The storing away of today's plenty for tomorrow's need - foodwise - is a necessary, commendable, and no doubt, historic endeavor. Squirrels store nuts and beavers pack away snacks of twigs. A small alpine rodent known as the pika cuts mountain grasses, spreads the harvest to dry in the sunshine, and stashes it away safe for snowpack-season feasting.

I sometimes wonder if, after mankind's fall from grace, Adam could occasionally be heard from somewhere in the weedy fields outside the Garden of Eden calling, "Hay, Eve, can ya' help make hay this afternoon?" Or something to that effect.

"If you have any spare time this week, you can fluff and rake hay," suggested the Farmer early last week. His understanding in offering a big grin when uttering the phrase "spare time" was most appreciated.

But, when there's hay to be made, "spare time" is found. While we're all in the hayfield, no one cares about dust in the house anyway. Besides, the weather folks were predicting a relatively agreeable haymaking week, and acres of beautiful alfalfa and mixed grass were already on the ground.

Let me interject here that for the past at least half-dozen years, the household's two teenagers assisted with the bulk of haymaking chores. And, most recently, friends of our youngest have been wonderful additions to the summertime farm crew. My labor value lay more in calves, cows and cooking than wrangling with cranky equipment.

But with September came the return to school for our summer assistants. And the need for our full-time son to be at the helm of the heavy-duty equipment -- forage harvester, haybine, etc., which left guess who with haymaking fluff.

"Anyone can fluff," assures the youngest. "Takes no mental capacity whatsoever." Thanks.

What they forgot to tell me was that the wide-front-end tractor I was assigned has a very sensitive steering mechanism -- one bump and your former forward momentum can quickly veer off right or left. Plus, fluffing hay needs to be done at a fairly high speed, like sixth gear, to properly aerate a windrow of damp hay so that it dries thoroughly before baling, and doesn't mold in storage.

About the third round, I finally relaxed my grip on the steering wheel and began to enjoy the scent of fresh hay and pattern of hillsides ready for harvest. A hawk soared above a woodlot and in the distance a neighbor cut tiny rows with toy-sized-appearing mower and windrower. The pleasure of field work was definitely still there.

But where was this predicted sunshine? Occasionally it peeked from behind clumps of passing clouds, fat-white ones alternating with flat-gray. The air got chillier as the afternoon passed and the sweatshirt I'd grabbed as an afterthought felt comfortable.

We baled no hay that day -- it never dried down.

A day later, the weather pattern continued. By late afternoon, rain threatened. One field was borderline dry. A couple of loads of small bales -- heavy, damp, small bales -- went on the wagons. And they rolled the rest into large bales just to get it off ahead of the rain.

Back to the field yet another day to fluff. Rain threatens, but never materializes. Hay dries -- almost. Bale up more small bales -- heavy small bales. Wagons full. Milking time, so short of time and people to unload. Whip into field with round baler and roll the rest.

Rake hay next day. Between alternating raindrops and hide-n-seek sunshine. To heck with time-consuming small bales, they decide. The kid heads out with the round baler to make time and get hay away before threatening storm. Tire blows on tractor. Large tire. Not repairable. Need new tire, not available for three days.

Maybe the hay will dry today. If those black clouds on the horizon turn around and head back north.

You know, it never did rain enough to even settle the dust.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Since my husband retired in January, he keeps himself just as busy as he wants to be. He has repaired a rail fence around our house and he has replaced part of the barn roof. He planted a lot of sweet corn and we've been sharing it with friends and relatives as our two freezers are getting full.

Just now he is preparing to pour a cement floor in our almost 200-year-old house. One small room has a brick floor but the rest of the cellar has always had a ground floor. He has carried tons of ground up the outside cellar steps to level the floor. But, when he gets too tired he can stop and rest on his sofa—one of the privileges of retirement.

I've been keeping my strawberry rows clean by constant weeding. The other day I was surprised to see that one row was blooming and I picked eight ripe strawberries in September, and they are not the everbearing variety.

While I was in the garden, I intended to bring in a cantaloupe for supper, but instead I picked a big, round watermelon. It was very sweet and we enjoyed it.

Also I noticed were grapes that must be picked to make juice. They are not very nice bunches as there are a few green ones that must be picked off and thrown away. However, I'm always glad to have a few quarts to take out to the men on a hot afternoon.

Our daughter who lives in Atlanta phones me every week to let me know how things are at her house. She informed us last month that we now have our eighth grandchild. Elizabeth has a baby sister named Catherine and they keep their mother and father busy. Judy had been taking care of her baby niece all summer too while Rebecca's parents worked. But now Rebecca's father will stay home and raise her as he did his son, Matthew. Times have changed since that was considered a woman's job.

Chicken Giblets

Arkansas, host state for the 1991 National Chicken Cooking Contest, is the nation's leading poultry producing state. When the first chicken Cook-Off was held in 1949, Americans consumed 7.1 pounds of chicken per capita annually. This year, chicken consumption is expected to exceed 70 pounds per capita, surpassing both beef and pork to become the country's favorite meat.

What region in the United States has best chicken cooks? According to the National Broiler Council, sponsor of the National Chicken Cooking Contest, no state can claim a monopoly on Cook-Off winners. Fourteen states and the District of Columbia have produced chicken cooking champions with only one — Delaware — boasting two first place winners.

There were 142 different chicken dishes prepared at the first National Chicken Cooking Contest held in Salisbury, Maryland, in 1949, and only three judges. Contest archives record that the judges "munched, nibbled, chewed and ate chicken" from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 11:00 p.m. before awarding first prize to Mrs. A.L. Karlik of Salisbury for her Broiled Chicken Deluxe. It was described as "a dream dish".

Winning recipes from the National Chicken Cooking Contest are widely circulated and prepared in kitchens from coast to coast. Few are as well known as the 1971 winner, Dipper's Nuggets Chicken.

Dear Golden Pride/Rawleigh.

Terri took a drug to get pregnant. Her parents sent her Bee Pollen and Propolis in the fall of 1987. She came home in the Summer of 1988 and went to Daniel Nauman's seminar. She had a talk with Tim Ferguson about hormones as her doctor said that she could never bear a child. She asked Tim Ferguson about the word in our literature and it was that word the doctor told her was wrong with her. At that time, she was taking Formulas #1, #2, #3 and #4. She started feeling better right away, but called in October saying she was awful sick. Her father told her, after a few times, to get off the product. She got upset and hung up. I was getting ready to call her on December 3, 1988 to wish her a Happy Birthday and she called saying that I would not believe it, but she was three months pregnant. We said, "Praise the Lord!" The doctor did not believe it. She had to go the next day.. for an ultra sound. Sure enough she was going to be a mother.

The baby was born on June 10, 1989, a healthy girl. Today, the little girl is not little anymore. She is a 10 month old cute and smart child. She is almost walking and can already say some words.

Terri nursed her baby for 8 months and now she is taking Formulas #1, Propolis tablets, and 500 mg of Bee Pollen. She goes to the cabinet when Terry does and smacks her lips and takes her honey. We were really concerned when Terri told us she was taking 500 mg of Bee Pollen. She has also started taking 2 teaspoons of Green Barley.

Today, Gabrielle is the best reality of a dream that Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Briggs never thought one day would come true. God worked through Harry Hersey, Tim Ferguson and Mr and Mrs. Daniel Nauman and made Grandpa and Grandma Tucker proud.

Heaps Of Apple Ideas

Apples have become a national favorite and a symbol of the American way of life. The peak of Pennsylvania's apple harvest, which runs from late summer through October) is the first of October. That is when the widest variety of apples are available, especially at farm markets.

Look for apples without bruises or cuts in the skin. Contrary to popular belief, the flavor of an apple cannot be judged solely on color. Striped apples and those with patches of green are often of excellent quality, depending on variety.

The most popular cooking apples are Golden Delicious, Rome, Stayman, and York.

Whatever the variety, you benefit the most from the vitamins and minerals in the apples if you eat them raw, skin and all, and use them unpeeled in cooked recipes. All apples are low in calories and make good between-meal snacks.

But for impressive apple dishes, try these favorites from our readers.

APPLE CRISP

Pare and slice enough apples to cover an 8-inch pan. Add:
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 tablespoon flour or whole wheat flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Crumb topping:
¾ cup brown sugar
½ cup white or whole wheat flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Crumb topping:
¾ cup brown sugar
½ cup flour
¾ cup quick oatmeal
¼ cup butter or margarine

Mix together ingredients with a fork until mixture becomes crumbly.

Mix granulated sugar, one tablespoon flour, and cinnamon. Sprinkle over apples then cover with crumb topping.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes. May be eaten warm or cooled. Good topped with ice cream.

SAUSAGE AND APPLE STUFFING

Sprinkle over the bottom of a 3-quart casserole
10 slices bacon, diced
Cover with paper towel. Microwave on high 3½ to 4½ minutes until bacon just begins to brown. Crumble in casserole:
1 pound pork sausage

Microwave for 3 minutes stirring twice until pork loses its pink color. Add:
2 large onions, chopped
2 cups mushrooms, sliced
3 medium-size ribs celery, chopped

Cover with paper towel and microwave about 7 minutes or until onions and mushrooms are wilted, stirring twice.

Stir in:
1 teaspoon dried sage leaves, crumbled
3 cups tart apples, cored and sliced

Cover and microwave for 2 minutes. Apples will still be crisp.

Meanwhile mix in a large pot or bowl:
1 loaf day-old white bread, cubed
1 cup chopped fresh parsley

Toss with above mixture. Stir in a little at a time until well blended and stuffing is as moist as desired. Use as stuffing or return mixture to the 3-quart casserole. Cover with lid and microwave on high for 13 to 15 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes.

MACAROON TOP APPLE PIE

4 cups sliced apples
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
Topping:
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1 egg
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup flour
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup coconut, optional

Peel apples and slice into buttered 9- or 10-inch glass pie plate. Mix ½ cup sugar and cinnamon; add apples, stirring enough to coat the slices with sugar. Bake for 20 minutes in 375 degreen oven while preparing topping.

Topping: Cream butter and second half-cup sugar. Add beaten egg, then sifted dry ingredients, vanilla and coconut. Spread this completely over the surface of hot apples. Bake 30 minutes longer at 375 degrees or until the apples are tender, and the crust is golden brown. Cut into wedges. Serve warm or cold. Whipped cream or ice cream make a good addition. Coconut gives the macaroon flavor, but dessert is equally good without it. Cortlands or McIntosh are best in this recipe.

She would like information on which company sold it or a recipe that tastes similar. She writes: "It would make my father an incredible, happy man."

QUESTION — An Elizabethtown reader requests recipes for Oreo cookies.

ANSWER — K. Lawson, Damascus, Md., wanted a recipe for grinding horseradish with apple cider or other ingredients to keep it hot and spicy. Thanks to Wilma Epler who wrote that she digs horseradish in the fall or winter as long as the ground isn't frozen. She washes the roots, peels and chops them coarsely. She puts about 1 cup of the roots in the blender with enough white vinegar to process easily. Blend until very fine. Be careful of the fumes when you take the lid off! Store in a glass jar in the refrigerator. "It will keep well for a long time."

ANSWER — Martha Markle, York, requested a recipe called Mom's Refrigerator Pickles. Thanks to Jean Troutman who wrote that these are her favorite pickle. She made six gallon this year that she keeps in a crock in the cool. Also, thanks to Audrey Coleman, Elmer, N.J; Lois Miller, New Freedom; Helen Kalwasinski, Portage; and Sandy Merwine, Ashland, for sending recipes. It's fascinating that so many different versions of recipes are circulated.

Refrigerator Pickles

4 cups white vinegar
4 cups sugar
⅓ cup salt
1⅓ teaspoons celery seed
⅓ teaspoon turmeric

Mix ingredients and pour over sliced cucumbers and onions that have been packed in jars. Do not heat mixture. Shake well and set in refrigerator. They are ready to eat in 10 days will keep indefinitely.

Refrigerator Dill Pickles

Boil together:
1 cup white vinegar
½ gallon water

Fill gallon jar with cucumbers. Pour in:
½ cup salt
½ can pickling spices
1 clove garlic, broken
1 teaspoon sugar
Dill, handful of fresh

After water is boiling, pour over pickles and spices. Let cool. Cover and put in refrigerator and let set for 7 days before eating.

Freezer Pickles

Thinly slice cucumbers and make 2 quarts. Add 1 sliced onion and sliced green and red peppers, if desired. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon salt not iodized. Let set for 2 hours. Don't pour off juice. Pour vegetables and juice in containers and freeze. When needed, thaw, rinse and drain. Pour your favorite dressing or sour cream or vinegar over cucumbers and serve. Or you can rinse and drain and use plain in tossed salad.

Refrigerator Pickles

Pack onions, then cucumbers into jars.
14-16 cucumbers, sliced thin
3 onions, sliced
Green and red peppers, sliced
2 cups white vinegar
3-4 cups sugar
¼ cup salt
1 tablespoon celery seed
½ teaspoon alum
1 teaspoon turmeric

Slice cucumbers in a gallon jar. Shake down as you fill the jar. Pour the cold syrup over the cucumbers in jar. Shake down in tumble motion for next three or four days. Do not seal. Keep refrigerated. Ready to eat after the sixth day.

Sweet Refrigerator Pickle

Wash pickles; leave whole.

Day 1: Place 2 gallon pickles in crock. Boil 2¾ cups pickling salt in 1¾ gallon water. Pour over pickles to cover them.

Day 2: Pour off salt water. Mix 3 ounces alum in boiling water. Pour over pickles to cover them.

Day 3: Pour off alum water. Boil water. Pour over pickles to cover.

Day 4: Pour off water. Bring to boil 1½ gallons white vinegar, 1½ ounces pickling spices. Boil 15 minutes. Pour over pickles to cover.

Day 13: Pour off vinegar. Slice pickles as desired. Place back in crock. Add 5 pounds sugar. Stir well. Let stand. Do not add water, for combining sugar and pickles will make its syrup. Do not can. Keep refrigerated.

ANSWER — Mrs. William Lucas Jr., Warfordsburg, requested a recipe for German Bratwurst. Thanks to Jack Hohmeier, Lincroft, N.J., for sending a recipe.

German Bratwurst

1 pound pork, with a little fat
½ pound veal, lean
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ cup cold water
1 teaspoon caraway seeds
Pinch of nutmeg
Pinch of marjoram
Pork casings

Grind pork and veal together twice. Grind fine. Add nutmeg, marjoram, caraway seed, and mix well. Next add salt, pepper, and cold water. Mix with your hands as this is the only way to mix it thoroughly. When mixed, fill the casings 3 inches long and tie off in links. Keep in refrigerator overnight to season.

To cook: Prick the sausages on all sides and place in a heavy skillet with a cover. Add water to the skillet; just enough to cover the sausages. Cover the skillet, and bring to a boil. Simmer for 5 minutes. Drain off water; add butter to the skillet. Fry the sausages slowly until they are browned on all sides, about 20 minutes.

Serve with apple rings that have been fried in the same pan as the sausages were cooked in.

Make a brown sauce; add chopped onion, a little sugar and vinegar or [illegible]. Serve over boiled potatoes.

Teach Your Children How To Work

SCRANTON (Lackawanna Co.) — Do you find yourself becoming frustrated with your four-year-old because she won't pick up her toys? Are you and your teenager constantly bickering over the cleanliness of his room? Are you starting to believe that kids just don't want to work anymore?

Children actually have a natural desire to accomplish and master tasks - to feel competent. But sometimes children may not seem willing to help with household chores or take care of their personal belongings because of reasons not related to the work. For instance, your four-year-old may want your attention and delays collecting her toys because she wants you to help her with it. Your teenager may want to express his independence by having his room the way he wants it rather than the way you want it.

Begin early to develop your children's work habits. Make your home "child-friendly" by arranging things so your children can do many things for themselves. This helps them to feel competent, an important requirement for a good worker.

Allow young children to help when they offer, even though it is often easier to do it yourself. Be careful to not criticize them for their efforts or to redo the job since this will discourage them from trying again. Show appreciation for their beginning efforts and remember that you're teaching work habits, as well as trying to get a job done.

As your children get older, increase their responsibilities. Besides putting away toys, young children of three and four can empty wastebaskets, clean fingerprints from windows and walls, and put away clothes. Children of five or six years of age can dust and polish furniture or scrub pots and pans. Eight-to ten-year-olds can learn to prepare some food, put away groceries, and do the laundry.

If you would like to get your children more involved in household work, begin by holding a family meeting. Choose a method of dividing chores. One method might be to have family members draw chore slips from a hat. If someone doesn't care for a particular task, then they may be allowed to trade with someone else. Another method is to use a job chart to check off each child's completed task.

Whatever the method, children will be more interested in doing their share if they have a say in what their jobs will be. Also, involve the children in choosing some reward for the family when chores are done on time. Examples are a trip to the local park or a favorite dessert for dinner.

It is important that children know how the task is to be done. Do the job along with the child the first time so they know what is expected of them. Don't take over for the children who are not done on time, or who do not do the job up to your standards. Be sure to praise each child for his or her efforts.

One of the most important things we can give our children is a good feeling about their ability to work. If we can give them opportunities to work that are challenging, but not overwhelming, and give them some freedom to work in their own way, they will find satisfaction from work.

Back-To-School With Sunny Fresh Citrus

Sweet and juicy Valencia oranges will be in abundance this fall, and they are great for back-to-school lunches and snacks. California Valencia oranges ripened late this year providing fall shoppers with an above average supply of top quality oranges in a variety of sizes. The quality and flavor of the Valencia crop is extraordinary, according to Sunkist Growers, Inc. They claim that the large volume of oranges will bring about reasonable prices in the markets, making Valencias a great back-to-school value.

Valencia oranges will be available throughout the Fall. Don't let a green tinge on the fruit halt your orange purchases. The "regreening" of Valencia oranges is much more prevalent this year than in the past. Warm weather causes the skin to reabsorb chlorophyll and turn green when the fruit has fully matured on the tree. "Regreened" oranges are natures way of signaling that the Valencias are ripe and ready for picking.

There will also be a plentiful supply of zesty lemons and grapefruit this fall. Lemons will be coming from the lemon growing desert regions of Arizona. Although the lemon sizes are generally smaller this year, their juicing quality is good. Lemons add flavor and color to your favorite fall and winter entrees and desserts and are perfect for making warm lemon drinks on chilly evenings.

California's ruby and white grapefruit varieties are at their peak, with a lower acidity, good flavor and juice content. Summer grapefruit will be available through September, while desert grapefruit will become available in October. When choosing between ruby and white grapefruit, remember that the ruby grapefruit is nutritionally superior because if contains a generous amount of Vitamin A.

It's easy to take out your blender and be creative with fresh squeezed citrus juices, assorted fruit, frozen yogurt, sherbet, etc ... and whirl up a glass or two of cool enjoyment. Here are a couple of ideas to get you started.

Tropical Orange Smoothie

1 cup frozen vanilla yogurt
1 cup fresh squeezed orange juice
½ cup pineapple juice
2 tablespoons of cream of coconut
6 ice cubes

In blender, combine all ingredients; blend until smooth. Garnish each serving with orange cartwheel slice and red maraschino cherry, if desired. Makes about three 8-ounce servings.

Double Orange Freeze

1 tray orange juice cubes (use 1 cup orange juice)
2 cups fresh squeezed orange juice
1 pint (2 cups) orange sherbet

To make frozen orange cubes, pour 1 cup orange juice into ice cube tray; freeze until firm. To make in blender, combine all ingredients (including the ice cubes); blend until smooth. Makes four 8-ounce servings.

Participants will learn how to use the extra features of their ovens, learn how to select dishes for microwave use and food preparation techniques. The sessions begin September 20.

All classes will be held from 1:00-3:00 p.m. at the extension meeting room at 112 Pleasant Acres Room, York. You may sign up for one class at $6 each or register for the whole series for $25. Send your registration (check payable to Extension Service Special Fund) to Classes, Penn State Cooperative Extension, 112 Pleasant Acres Road, York, PA 17402. Call 757-9657 for more information.

Who says appetizers have to be elaborate? Keep them simple. Try a bowl of red radishes. Dip them into softened real butter and then a pinch of salt. Lay a radish and green onion on top of a thin slice of toast to complete this delicious, fuss-free hors d'oeuvre.

A Mouse In The Haystack?

Watch out, Mother. You're going to get your hair full of hay.

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

Ever hear of looking for a needle in a haystack?

Well, children attending a special late summer event at Old Bedford Village were busy hunting for surprises hid in the hay. They found the prizes almost as hard to find as a needle in a haystack.

The game was divided into two different age groups. One was for those five and under, and the other for those ages 6 to 12.

At the sound of the whistle, the children began to scamper through the hay looking for paper sacks that held gifts.

As the children sifted through piles of hay, mothers who were standing behind the chidren got covered with the hay.

Yo yo's and other toys were in the bags. Some of the children were shocked to find mice in the paper bags. But they soon discovered the mice were not alive. The mice were magnetic, the kind that sticks to refrigerators to hold notes.

The Haystack Surprise was a lot of fun for those who played and for those who watched.

The next event for children at the Old Bedford Village is the October Pumpkin Festival held on October 27-28, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Visitors can paint or carve pumpkins for cash prizes in a judging contest.

There will also be a scarecrow workshop, costume parade, and a pumpkin pie eating contest.

If you would like to have more information about the activities for kids held at the Old Bedford Village in Bedford, call 1 800 622-8005.

Elisa Bennett wasn't too thrilled to find mice in her paper bag.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Your chances of having your recipe printed in the Home On The Range section is greater than in the Cook's Question Corner because we have more space. Unfortunately, we often receive recipes that are too late for the publication deadline. Some of these can fit another category at a later date, but many good recipes never appear because they arrived too late. Please send answers to recipe topics one week before the date listed with the recipe topics, which appear each week on page B6. In last week's Home On The Range section, breakfast recipes were featured. Here is a delicious one that appeared too late to be included. Thanks to Leah Glick, Ronks, for sending it.

Gourmet Scrambled Eggs

1 cup diced Canadian bacon or link sausage
¼ cup chopped green onion

4 teaspoons melted butter
2¼ cups soft bread crumbs (3 slices bread)

In a large skillet, cook bacon or sausage and onion in the 3 tablespoons butter until onion is tender, but not brown. Add eggs and scramble until set. Add mushrooms and cooked eggs in cheese sauce. Turn into 12x7x2-inch baking dish. Combine remaining melted butter, crumbs, and paprika; sprinkle on top of eggs. Cover. Chill until 30 minutes before serving. Bake, uncovered at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Cheese Sauce*

ANSWER — Mrs. E. Ballinger of Sewell, N.J., would like the original starter dough recipe for Amish Friendship bread. Thanks to a reader from Smithsburg for sending the recipe.

Sourdough Starter

3½ cups flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1 package active dry yeast
2 cups warm water

Combine flour, sugar, and yeast in a large glass or ceramic bowl. Gradually add warm water to dry ingredients, beating until smooth. Cover with cheesecloth and let set 3 days.

After the amount needed for the recipe is removed, replenish the starter by adding 1½ cups flour and 1 cup warm water to remaining starter. Beat until smooth and let stand in a warm place until mixture bubbles well, at least 24 hours. Store loosely covered in the refrigerator and use and replenish at least once every two weeks.

With aesthetics fast becoming as important as performance in th appliance market, color takes on new significance. Although white continues to dominate, black, royal blue and red are gaining in popularity. Coming on the heels of the stark all-white kitchen, these colorful appliances are an easy way to inject an accent color. Black is particular popular because it can function as a neutral if and when a third color is introduced. Blue, particularly the cobalt shade, is a strong seller in preparation items such as mixers and cookware. Red is selling best in small appliances such as coffee mills.

Mushroom Picking Contest

The "Main Event" of American Mushroom Week and the Chester County Mushroon Festival is the two-man team mushroom picking contest, held at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, September 23, during the day-long Kennett Square Street Festival. Top pickers and helpers are entered from local mushroom farms to compete for a $300 first prize, and the status of being THE BEST in Chester County, the Mushroom Capital of the World! Each team is selected by their co-workers and must demonstrate high speed and quality harvesting of fresh mushrooms. This is a truly unique and educational competition, with "play by play" commentary in both English and Spanish. Immediately following the competition spectators are encouraged to try their hand at picking and may take home the fresh mushrooms they pick.

Proceeds from the 1990 Chester County Mushroom Festival will benefit La Casa Del Pueblo, Inc., a non-profit community organization whose purpose and function is to aid the county's agricultural workers in finding housing and in becoming established in the community.

What Are Degradable Plastics?

There are two categories of degradable plastics: biodegradable and photodegradable. The term degradable, however, doesn't mean that the plastic disappears completely. Once a plastic degrades, it's not clear just how small the remnants of plastic will be. In fact, scientists haven't even agreed upon the basic definitions of "photodegradable" and "biodegradable."

In general, biodegradable plastics incorporate cornstarch in the plastic polymer itself. When degradable plastic is discarded, bacteria and fungi attack and consume the starch. When they are finished, they leave behind a plastic "Swiss cheese" or a pile of plastic "snow." In addition to grocery bags, biodegradable products using cornstarch include garbage bags, diaper liners, and agricultural sheets used to keep down the weeds. You can usually tell which ones have cornstarch because of the slightly rough feel of the plastic.

Photodegradable plastics are designed to break down during exposure to sunlight. One approach is to add chemicals like carbon monoxide, cobalt, or iron to the polymeric chains, making them absorb the sun's ultraviolet rays more readily. The mix of radiation and sensitizing chemicals causes reactions in the plastic that split the polymers, and the plastic breaks up.

McLaughlin Aims For The Top

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Brian McLaughlin claims that his efforts for winning the Lancaster County Outstanding 4-H'er of the Year award, were not accomplished single-handedly.

Although Brian is "one super kid" according to 4-H leaders, his ability to clinch the coveted annual title was certainly enhanced by his family's involvement in the 4-H program.

"The McLaughlins are a super family — very dedicated to doing a good job in everything," Zoann Parker, 4-H extension agent, said.

Because the McLaughlins offer leadership to four clubs and oversee county 4-H events, Brian naturally got involved in 4-H.

"I started tagging along to the clubs before I was old enough to be a member," Brian recently recalled.

From the beginning, Brian aimed to become the outstanding 4-H'er and win a place in national 4-H competition.

The family's indoctrination into the 4-H program began about nine years ago when Ralph (Brian's dad) was asked to lead the tractor club. He did.

He liked working with kids so well that he and his wife offered to begin a rabbit club for 4-H'ers. Soon he led an archery club. And then, a bee club leader was needed. The old axiom, if you need something done, ask a busy person to do it, fits the McLaughlin family, for Ralph was asked, and naturally, he found time to do it.

Ralph, who is employed full time by A.L Herr Brothers, which is a farm, garden, and utility store, and who operates his own part-time lawn mower repair business, is also 4-H County Fair board chairman, a recent member of the advisory council, and 4-H leader of four clubs. Mom Vonnie, who is also an elementary school teacher, assists with leading the rabbit club, and transports Brian and his sister Kim, 12, to numerous 4-H activities where it is reported, "If anything is going on, Brian's there — always."

Ralph said. "Some people wonder how we can find the time to be so involved in 4-H meetings, but I say that you just take the time. Four-H is good for kids. It teaches them a lot. It's a great organization and worth the running."

In games and in life, Lancaster County Outstanding 4-H'er Brian McLaughlin takes careful aim to do his best. "He's a neat kid. I hope my kids grow up to be like him," Jackie Bard, 4-H assistant director, said.

As soon as Brian was eight years old and eligible to join 4-H, he did. Since then, he has been part of almost every club offered in the county. He has helped make a national video promoting 4-H, which has appeared on TV.

Although Brian had his sights set on some day becoming the outstanding 4-H'er, that day came sooner than expected. Typically the award goes to a senior student. Brian was only 15 years old, the youngest countian to receive this distinction for leadership and overall excellence in 4-H.

Brian's favorite clubs are the archery and handyman clubs.

Compared to woodworking classes at school, Brian said the 4-H program is better because you get more one-to-one help.

The handyman club meets from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., one day a month. Brian plans a project and builds it. He has made a nightstand, bird feeder, a Martin bird house with 180 pieces, a planter, pool deck, and various other pieces.

His efforts paid off when he was sent to 4-H State Days held at Penn State. In handyman competition, Brian placed first in the state. Of his many achievements in the 4-H program, Brian said his most thrilling moment was being interviewed at the state level to go on to national competition. As the youngest person ever to be interviewed for national competition, Brian was not chosen this year.

"You can't win everything," he said. "You just try again."

His goal is to go to Chicago for national competition. He has three years left in the program to attain that goal.

As a junior at Solanco High School, Brian is on the track team where he participated in javelin and discus throwing. After high school, he plans to study fish and wildlife management.

"I'm highly motivated with a little help from my mom and dad," Brian admitted. "But they don't need to push me too much in 4-H because I don't ever get tired of it."

Although Brian had his sights set on some day becoming the outstanding 4-H'er, that day came sooner than expected. Typically the award goes to a senior student. Brian was only 15 years old.

The McLaughlins are an outstanding family who are deeply involved in 4-H leadership. From left are Ralph, Vonnie, Kim, and Brian.

U.S.S.R. Visitors Impressed With Lancaster Farms

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster Co.) — "For many years, we were well educated about most countries. But we knew little about the U.S., and what we did know was wrong," said Alexander Snegur.

"We were told that capitalism was bad, but now we see that it works — everything is much better than we expected."

Snegur is one of 25 visitors from Moldova, a Soviet Republic. The group is spending a week with host families in Lancaster County through Friendship Force, a private organization devoted to promote culture exchanges for better understanding between countries.

Snegur, an agronomist who manages a state farm, and Valentin Phillip Oglinda, an agronomist who holds a position as Chairman of Moldova Village Council, are interested in seeing how farms are operated in this country.

Snegur said, "The fields are different here. You can sense that the fields belong to somebody."

Oglinda agreed. He said, "The best things about the area are the people, the roads, and the shrubbery, which makes all America beautiful."

Snegur said that the government is trying to decide how to divide the government farms into smaller farm operations. This is not without problems. It is difficult for them to decide how the land should be divided. At this point, the government may continue to own the land but offer it rent free to whoever applies. At present, the government uses large, modern equipment to farm the land. If the land is divided into small parcels, the large equipment will not be suitable for use.

"We will probably use much labor especially in our vegetable and fruit fields," Snegur said.

On Tuesday, the two visited Reist Seed Co., popcorn growers and distributors in Mount Joy. The owner, Henry Reist, is one of the host families for the Moldova visitors.

"Several years ago, we could not even have dreamed about a visit like this. We appreciate the role that your former President Reagan, Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev, and President Bush have done to create a climate for us to enjoy this visit," said Snegur, left, to Henry Reist, center, and Valentin Phillip Oglinda, right.

Although the Moldova agronomists have neither grown nor tasted popcorn, the group wants to learn as much as possible about agricultural products while they are here.

"In a way, you can say this is a very stressful visit," Oglinda said, "because we have so little time to absorb everything. Yet, it is very good stress — very positive — because we are enjoying it so much. We like the people here very much. They are simple, kind people who like the land and respect others."

Oglinda, who is chairman of Moldova Village Council, said, "We are very happy because we can see the democratic process in action and how well it works. We are starting a new life. The democratic process is now established in our land and now we must stablilize it. We are here to learn how to organize business, farms, vacation, and life in general."

The group of 26 is doing that by visiting farms, businesses, and homes. They ask questions, use a video camera, and observe capitalism in action.

The men said that the government did not pay their transportation to the U.S.

"We have come by our own free will to better understand how businesses are operated under capitalism," Snegur said.

"Mostly we are teachers, managers, and intellectuals who will go back to our country and teach the people what we have learned here," said Oglinda. "It would be a sin not to take back to our country those things we have learned here."

Moldova, which is largely a farming community, grows grain, grapes, tomatoes, cucumbers, and cabbage. They also produce much milk, butter, and cheese.

In their country, they said, there is no such thing as rich and poor; however, there is a class difference between the intellectuals and the common folks.

As the visitors talked about the differences between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R., flies buzzed around. The visitors laughingly remarked that they have flies, mosquitoes, and manure just like America.

Both Snegur and Oglinda are members of the parliment. They stressed that they want peace to be reached in all areas of the world and are very concerned about the Middle East crisis.

"In a way, you can say this is a very stressful visit," Oglinda said, "because we have so little time to absorb everything. Yet, it is very good stress — very positive — because we are enjoying it so much. We like the people here very much. They are simple, kind people who like the land and respect others."

Religion, which had been forbidden for many decades, is in Oglinda's words "reborn in our country." They reported that people are restoring and building churches of many different faiths. "We have the Mormons, Baptists, Catholics and many other religions in our town," he said.

"In the past, everything had been suppressed," Snegur said. "It is like my generation lost everything but now it is reborn. People are checking into religion, culture, and so many other areas."

With the freedom has also come an increase in crime.

Oglinda said, "We are in the midst of a crisis economically, politically, and ethnically. But the number one problem is economical. We must solve that first before we concentrate on solving the other issues."

Before parting, Oglinda said, "When we talk with you, we speak our personal opinions, not necessarily those of our government."

After a week in Lancaster County, the group will spend a week in Harrisburg with another host family, and after a two-day visit to New York, they will return to the Soviet Union.

PDPP Local Funding Exceeds $307,000

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Recently the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program approved 44 application requests totaling more than $50,000 in matching and grant funding. Those 44 applications pushed the total dollars returned to the volunteer dairy promotion committees across the state over $307,000 since the program began in 1984.

The local funding program is designed to support the grass roots dairy promotion activities, and to reiterate the dairy message to consumers through one-on-one communications. The volunteer dairy promotion committees are given technical assistance, along with training seminars and promotional kits to assist with their local promotion activities.

Pumpkins And Squash Galore At York Fair

Pumpkins and squashes are often confused and incorrectly named. If the stem attached to the fruit is hard, you have a true pumpkin. If it's soft, it's a true squash. In theory, summer squashes are actually pumpkins and zucchini is a pumpkin.

Who's in their family? The family of cucurbits includes not only pumpkins and squash but also cucumbers, muskmelons, gourds, and watermelons. These vine crops are eaten as vegetables but are actually fruit. Most types trail on the ground or on a trellis taking up valuable space. Bush-type plants fit in smaller gardens or between ornamental shrubs. Unfortunately, very few bushy-type varieties of squash are available.

Will acorn squash cross with butternut squash? All plants within the same species can cross with each other. For example, acorn, spaghetti, yellow crockneck, zucchini, miniature gourds, and Jack-o-lantern pumpkins will cross with each other because they're in the Cucurbita pepo species. Butternut squash (Cucurbita moschata) will not cross with any of the pepo species. But beware! Your buttercup, hubbards, and Turk's Turban squash can cross. Crosses often produce weird results next season if you're a seed saver.

Any problems with vine crops? Plenty of things damage plant foliage. The striped cucumber beetle, aphids, squash bug, and squash vine borer often can be blamed for premature wilting and death. Control these insects before they spread diseases. If you see sawdust like material on the ground, you've got a squash vine borer. If selected vines are shriveling, you may have bacterial wilt. Yellow-green leaf color and wrinkled small fruit may be due to a mosaic virus spread by aphids and leafhoppers. A poor set of fruit could be due to improper pollination.

Why tasteless melons and squash? Nothing tastes flatter than unripe winter squash. It pays to be patient for deep fruit color and hard stems and rinds before harvesting. Keep them from getting frost damage by covering on cold nights. Tasteless melons could be due to cloudy weather, diseases, excess rainfall, or a lack of magnesium or boron in the soil.

Blossom-drop and no fruit-set? Blossom drop is normal because only female flowers produce fruit. Female flowers have a swelling beneath the blossom. These soon to be fruit will follow the earlier male flowers by a week or so. Only bees can transfer the pollen and wet weather delays their activity. Unpollinated fruit will not mature, resulting in flower death and no fruit-set.

Entering pumpkins at the York Fair? If you have school-age children or 4-H'er, the time to choose your pumpkin entry is close at hand. Pumpkins planted in late May should be mature enough before the start of the fair. Plan to cut them from the vine with a sharp knife leaving a 1/2-2 inch handle. Don't lift them by the stem. A broken stem is a sure sign of fruit rots. Leave your pumpkins in a warm place 80° F on a porch for a week or two. The pumpkins curing permits the rind to dry, preventing soft rot and allowing full color to develop.

If all else fails and your vines begin to collapse before the fruit fully turns orange, cut the fruit from the vine. This will prevent the handles from withering and turning brown before the fruit is harvested. Your pumpkin should have a deep, solid orange color and a hard stem and rind before the start of the Fair on September 7.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Sometimes cooking emergencies happen. Company comes without notice, a family member brings a friend home for dinner, or our errands take half a day instead of half an hour. It's those times when we cooks need some magic formula. My magic formula usually centers around a microwave meal of chicken breasts, a starch and a frozen vegetable. Here's one of my magic meals for four.

Most of the foods for this meal can be kept on hand. I've found that a supply of boneless, skinless chicken breasts is the best emergency food I can have. They can be made into an elegant entree, a quick sandwich or a hearty "meat and potatoes" meal. Although the already boned and skinned breasts seem expensive, there is absolutely no waste. A three- or four-ounce serving means a pound or less will adequately serve four. Boned and skinned chicken breasts are ready to cook, while boning and skinning chicken breasts for four can take 10 minutes of your precious pre-dinner time. Stock up when there's a sale and freeze pieces separated by waxed paper in an airtight container.

Several things make this meal special enough for guests. Chicken breats themselves are an "in" food. Boneless and skinless ones are easy to eat and look elegant when served on the colorful pilaf. They microcook very fast, so in this recipe are cooked on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts) to cook thoroughly without overcooking edges and the pesto. After cooking, let stand five minutes or so and test for doneness by slicing near the center. If not done, continue microwaving until no longer pink. If you choose to use bone-in chicken breasts, cooking time will double or even triple.

The pesto is a flavorful combination of herbs, which adds a gourmet touch to chicken. It's made in minutes in your food processor or blender. If you don't have fresh basil, follow the pesto variation given below the recipe, made with fresh parsley and dried basil, or use prepared pesto (found in specialty produce sections of large supermarkets).

Barley also adds a special touch to this meal. An equally good starch to serve is cooked rice or noodles, but try this lightly seasoned barley dish for a change. Microwaving barley doesn't save time, but it is more convenient than range-top cooking. Use a large casserole and microwave on High, uncovered, to prevent boilovers. Less water is used than in conventional cooking, so no draining is necessary and valuable nutrients are saved.

To prepare this whole meal in about 15 minutes, start by cooking Barley Pilaf. When the barley is tender, cover and let it stand while cooking the chicken. While the barley cooks, prepare the pesto. When Pesto Chicken is done, let it stand, covered, while microwaving your favorite frozen vegetable. All of the parts of your meal will still be hot and perfect for eating in the short time it takes to cook each food.

Pesto Chicken

¼ cup whole almonds
1-2 cloves garlic
½ cup fresh basil leaves, patted dry
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon olive or vegetable oil
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
4 (3-4 ounces each) boneless, skinless chicken breasts

For Pesto with food processor: Fit dry metal blade in dry work bowl. With on-off pulses process garlic until minced; add almonds and process until ground. Add basil and process with on-off pulses until minced. Add butter, oil and Parmesan cheese and process until mixed.

For Pesto with blender: Process almonds until finely ground; add other ingredients and process with on-off pulses until ingredients are minced and mixed.

For chicken: Place chicken pieces in a microwavable 8x8-inch square or 9-inch round baking dish. Spread half of each piece with about a tablespoon of pesto; fold each piece over pesto and spread with remaining pesto. Arrange pieces so thickest parts are to outside edge of dish. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts) 8 to 9 minutes, rotating dish once after 4 minutes, or until chicken looks done. Let stand, covered, 5 minutes. Check for doneness by cutting into thickest part. If chicken still looks pink, continue microwaving on Medium 1 to 3 minutes or until done. Serve with Barley Pilaf (below), rice or noodles. Makes 4 servings.

Pesto Variation: Use ½ cup parsley leaves and 1½ tablespoons dried basil leaves instead of fresh basil.

Each serving — without barley, rice or noodles: 276 calories, 31g protein, 16g fat, 2g carbohydrate, 191mg sodium, 96mg cholesterol.

Barley Pilaf

2 cups boiling water
1-2 teaspoons instant chicken bouillon or 1-2 cubes
1 cup quick-cooking barley
½ cup chopped celery
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms, drained
1 jar (2 ounces) chopped pimento, drained
1-2 tablespoons butter

Stir together water, bouillon, barley, celery and pepper in microwavable 2-quart casserole. Microwave (High), uncovered, 10 to 12 minutes, stirring twice, or until barley is tender. Stir in mushrooms, pimento and butter. Cover and let stand 5 to 15 minutes. Add more water if too thick. Makes 4 large servings.

Each serving: 217 calories, 5g protein, 4g fat, 42g carbohydrate, 377mg sodium, 9mg cholesterol.

Questions and answers —

Q. I have many varieties of herbs. How can I dry them in my microwave?

A. Pick herbs on a sunny morning just after dew is gone. Rinse under running water. Shake off excess water; pat dry. Snip off leaves; measure and spread evenly on several layers of paper towels set on a microwave meat rack.

For 1 cup leaves: Microwave (High) 2 minutes; stir well. Then microwave 1 to 2 more minutes or until dry and brittle, stirring every 30 seconds. For 2 cups leaves: Microwave (High) 3 minutes; stir well. Then microwave 2 to 3 more minutes, stirring every 30 seconds. Watch carefully toward end of drying.

Lift paper towels and herbs from rack. Cool about 10 minutes. If not completely dry, microwave 30 to 60 seconds more. Cool; crumble and store in glass jars with tight-fitting covers. One cup fresh herb leaves makes about ¼ cup dried.

For large amounts: To prevent overdrying and loss of flavor when drying large amounts of herbs, partially micro-dry leaves on stems. Then hang them (leaves down) in a warm, dry, dark place to dry completely.

Or place 3 to 4 large sprigs of herb leaves (still on stems) on paper towels in microwave oven. Microwave on Medium Low (30 percent power, about 200 watts, sometimes called Defrost) 8 to 10 minutes. Strip off dry leaves. Microwave remaining leaves on stems on Medium Low 3 to 5 more minutes. Watch carefully toward end of drying. Strip off dry leaves and cool before storing.

Active Parenting Of Teens

Do you, or the parents of teens that you know, sometimes wish your teens and pre-teens could be sent away for a few years and then returned to you as cooperative young adults? Or maybe, as the parents of teens, you and your friends just want some direction on how to guide adolescents through their most troublesome years. Well, now there's help - an innovative video-based parent education program designed specifically for parents of teens - and pre-teens. Called Active Parenting of Teens, the program is being sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension starting Wednesday, September 26 and continues through October 31.

To sign up for the Active Parenting of Teens program, call Penn State Cooperative Extension at (717) 757-9657. The cost of the program is $15 per participant, or $25 per couple. The first session will be held Wednesday, September 26 at the extension meeting room, 112 Pleasant Acres Road, York.

Safe Food Storage

While it may be tempting to use plastic trash bags for storing foods and beverages, this is NOT A SAFE PRACTICE. Only containers manufactured specifically for food or beverage use should be used for storing any food or beverage. Containers not manufactured for this purpose have not been tested for food safety. Such containers may contain substances that could leach into food and make it toxic. In addition, some types of trash bags are treated with deodorants which may contaminate the food as well as give it undesirable odors and/or flavors.

Keep tailgate desserts easy. Rely on apple favorites such as Golden Delicious, Granny Smith, Ida Red or McIntosh varieties served with Brie, Camembert, Blue or an aged Gouda.

Get weekend guests off to a snappy start with homemade biscuits and muffins. Add shredded Cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese and a pinch of ground red pepper to the muffin batter for a delicious change of taste.

A trained Supaflu chimney professional can spot these hazards in a hurry and take care of them almost as fast. A fast cast-in-place Supaflu installation makes your chimney better than new, safer than new. A smooth, strong Supaflu lined chimney fights creosote build-up and eliminates hot trapped gases, dramatically reducing chimney fire dangers.

RYE SEED

New Danko Rye Seed offers many advantages including yields approximately as high as wheat (up to 80 bu/acre) plus high resistance to winter injury, lodging & sprouting.

Danko is a fine-seeded rye variety & Davey-Joan's of Williamstown, New York is a major propagator and source of Danko rye seed in the U.S. They report that even with this year's above normal (25") rainfall in their area in May, June & July they have experienced no lodging or sprouting.

Danko can be planted from the 2nd week in September to November 1st. The ideal time is the first week of October. It grows later in the fall & starts earlier in the Spring.

Davey-Joan's has clean seed available in both bulk truck or trailer loads and in bushel bags at $6.00 bagged or $5.50 bulk per bushel - FOB Williamstown, N.Y. Please call for quotes on tractor trailer load quantities.

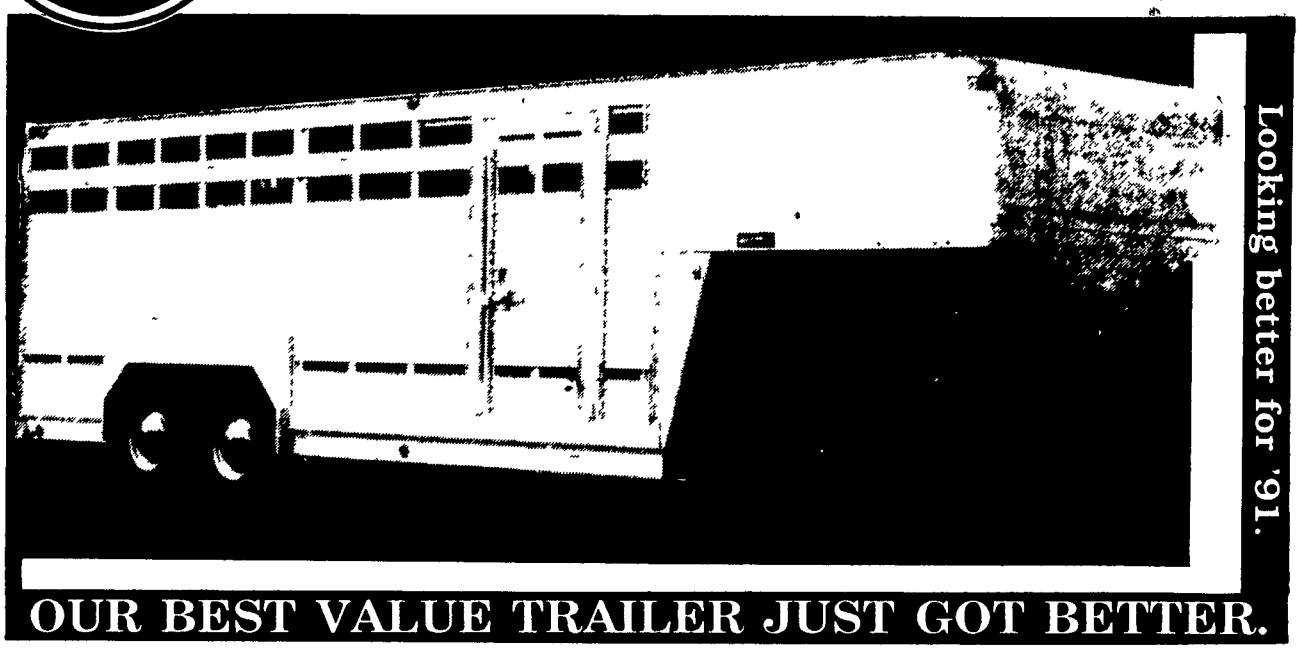
INTRODUCING THE REDESIGNED

WRANGLER



OUR BEST VALUE TRAILER JUST GOT BETTER.

The new Wrangler. More aerodynamic. Better looking. And the strongest Wrangler yet. With top-quality components and rugged construction, this Wrangler is the best trailer value you can find.

- LIGHTWEIGHT- Eby stock trailers are 25-35% lighter than comparable steel trailers. Less weight means better fuel mileage or increased payload.
- MAINTENANCE- Eby aluminum trailers won't rust. Welding and painting can cost you dollars in down time and repairs.
- DURABILITY- Eby trailers are built tough. Quality components and 6061 alloy aluminum provide the ruggedness required in a livestock trailer.

Solanco Fair At Quarryville (Lancaster County)

See You There!

Annual Festivities September 19 To 21

MILK AMERICA'S HEALTH KICK

FAIR DAYS

Solanco Fair

With the 1990 Solanco Fair just around the corner, Rep. John E. Barley announced that he and his Quarryville district office staff will be on the road from Sept. 19 through 21 to conduct business at the fairgrounds.

The Lancaster County Republican legislator encouraged residents of the 100th District to stop by his booth to take advantage of free state publications such as Pennsylvania road maps, highway safety information, and booklets outlining programs available to senior citizens.

In addition, Barley said he looks forward to meeting with constituents.

"This yaer will be the sixth year I have taken my legislative office to the people at the fair," Barley said. "I enjoy meeting with the fair visitors and discussing their concerns and ways that I may be able to assist them with a state-related issue."

Unionville Community Fair

Unionville-Chadds Ford community proudly presents the 66th annual Unionville Community Fair, October 11-13, 1990 at the Unionville High School grounds, on Route 82 in Unionville, Pennsylvania.

The fair boasts the largest display of local products and talents and as always is a showcase of achievement of our agricultural, horticultural, domestic, and artistic endeavors. This year's theme for the fair is "Spotlighting Agriculture in Pennsylvania."

As always, we are encouraging entries in more than 1,800 classes by area residents. Participation is open to all residents and employees of the Unionville-Chadds Ford School District. There is no entry fee but exhibitors are requested to obtain an exhibitor number. Fair catalogs outlining all entry details are available at all Unionville Chadds Ford area schools and post offices.

Also, because of its great success last year, the fair will be having the Pumpkin Extravaganza. This event is sponsored by the fair, with help from Northbrook Orchards and men and women at the Senior Center. Children from the Unionville-Chadds Ford elementary schools were given packets of pumpkin seeds in the spring. They are to bring their pumpkins to the fair to be judged on size, beauty, best carved, best decorated, and other categories of judging. "Mr. Pumpkin" and "Linus" will be at the Pumpkin Extravaganza.

★ New Wider Heavy Duty Super Sprag 1-1/32" Wide
★ 5 Yr. Warranty Against Sprag Failure
★ Introductory Price $695.00

We are pleased to announce a major improvement in TA strength & performance backed up by a warranty that is unmatched in the industry The 5/8" width Dana sprag which we have used over the past 10 years has proven its ability to perform under the most adverse of conditions and has achieved results that have sent our competitors scrambling to keep up By increasing the width of the sprag to 1-1/32" and caging it in a heavier frame, we now have an unmatched shock load capacity and dramatically raised our load carrying ability Our studies have shown that 90% of TA problems are directly related to sprag failure We feel that we now have the strongest sprag & best rebuilt TA available and it will be warranted as follows

5 yr. - 100% parts & labor against sprag
2 yr. - 100% parts & labor on remainder of unit
Our standard heavy duty TA is still available at $645 00 and carries a *2 yr - 100% parts & labor warranty
Certain restrictions apply and there will be a maximum labor pay-out of $450.00.
We also have units & parts available to rebuild old style TA's, including ramp & carrier sets
NEW price on ramps & carries - $200 00

COMPARE THESE FEATURES AND OPTIONS

Simple hydraulics allows one valve to operate the lift and stabilizer cylinders. Center plumbing means less hose length and easier coupling.

The basic box is heavy-duty steel welded seams, and reinforced for even more strength.

Standard offset hitch adjusts in 5-inch steps to lengths from 6'3" to 7'11". To allow for different row crop spacings, you can offset either right or left 5, 7½, 10 or 12½ inches.

Rub rails offer more protection to vehicles when approaching, during dumping cycle, and when departing.

Stabilizer cylinders hydraulicly lock on to axle to hold wagon rigid during dump cycle.

Galvanized roof features vent insert for straight-through air flow.

The model 700 dump wagon is designed for years of trouble free service. The hydraulic system with a cable assist is designed to unload large loads of up to 20,000 lbs. quickly and efficiently even if the load is not distributed evenly.

Make your operation safer • Use year round • Variety of crops • All field conditions • Operate in wet and muddy

When Your Truck Reaches The Blower, Just Back Into Your RICHARDTON Conveyor Box, Dump Your Load And Race Away For The Next!

Is Your Corn Picker Engine In Shape To Handle This Year's Heavy Crop?

This twin 20 hp is becoming very popular for hay balers and other applications traditionally equipped with 2 cylinder Wisc. engines and can also replace the older 4 cylinder engines on some applications.

Works very well to run corn pickers, crimpers and mower crimper units. We can mount your Wisc. clutch reduction for $1495 or sell the engine with used Wisc. reduction for $1995. Price includes picking up your clutch and delivery of completed unit for you. (Lancaster County Only)

We Only Have A Limited Amount Of These Engines Available w/Reduction

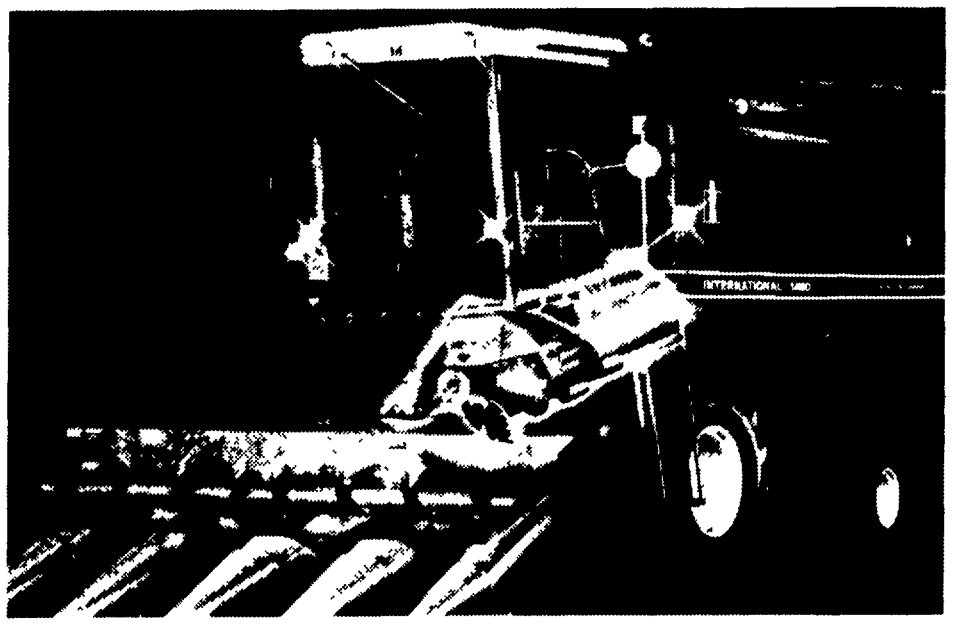
YOU DON'T NEED TO BE A MATHEMATICIAN TO LEARN

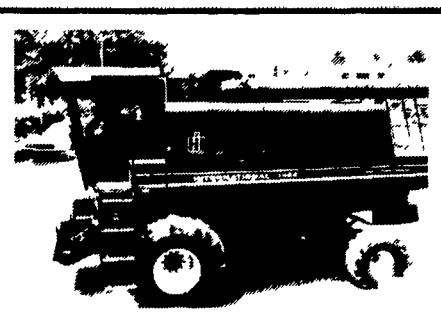


THE 3 LAWS OF HOOBER RECONDITIONED AXIAL-FLOW COMBINES. YOU ONLY NEED TO TRY ONE.

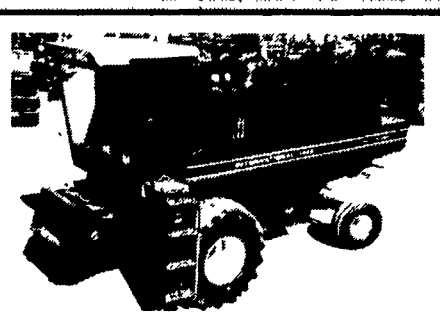
1st LAW OF HOOBER RECONDITIONED AXIAL-FLOW COMBINES

SEVEN (7) YEARS OLD IS NOT EQUAL TO (≠) WORN OUT

Because of the simple design of the CASE IH Axial Flow Combines, they can be reconditioned by Hoober's expert combine mechanics to like new condition, so they will provide 2nd and 3rd owners years of satisfactory and profitable operation.



IH 1460, 3612 Hrs., Diesel w/Turbo, Hydro, 28Lx26 Tires, Field Ready, 1980 (U4801)

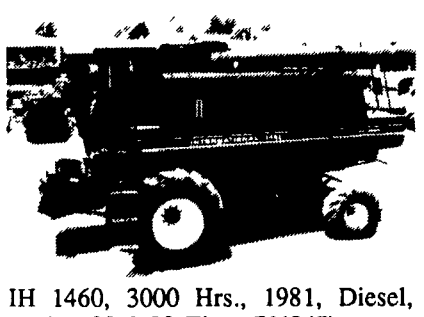


IH 1440, 2760 Hrs., 28Lx26, 11.00x16 Tires, Auto Header Control, AC/Htr (U4817)

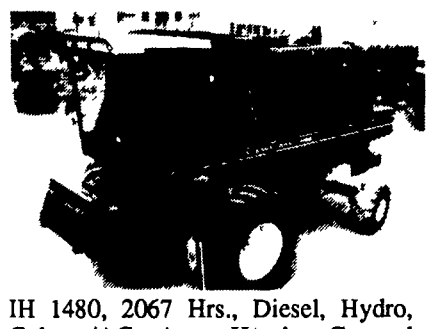
2nd LAW OF HOOBER RECONDITIONED AXIAL-FLOW COMBINES

3,000 HOURS PLUS (+) HOOBER RECONDITIONING EQUALS (=) YEARS OF DEPENDABLE SERVICE

3,000 hours on a conventional combine usually means too much trouble to be dependable. Axial-Flow Combines with 3,000 hours reconditioned by Hoober's have proven to run for years when bought by farmers in Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and New York.



IH 1460, 3000 Hrs., 1981, Diesel, Hydro, 30.5x32 Tires (U4847)



IH 1480, 2067 Hrs., Diesel, Hydro, Cab w/AC, Auto Header Control (U5082)

3rd LAW OF HOOBER RECONDITIONED AXIAL-FLOW COMBINES

A CASE-IH AXIAL-FLOW COMBINE SERVICED BY EXPERT HOOBER COMBINE MECHANICS EQUALS (=) LITTLE OR NO DOWN TIME DURING HARVEST.

When Hoober's expert combine mechanics service Axial-Flow Combines in the off-season, they run trouble-free through the season.

When Buying A NEW COMBINE

DON'T OVERLOOK THE CASE IH AXIAL FLOW ADVANTAGE

the single rotor

With the SINGLE AXIAL FLOW ROTOR you get:

1) INCREASED PRODUCTION by the ability to start combining earlier in the day, and to keep combining later into the night.
2) BETTER GRAIN QUALITY because the ROTOR'S threshing action is much gentler than a conventional combine's cylinder.
3) LESS MAINTENANCE because there is NO strawwalker system to repair.

DON'T OVERLOOK THE HOOBER SERVICE ADVANTAGE

HOOBER'S experienced service people

With HOOBER's experienced SERVICE PEOPLE you get:

1) Fulltime Combine mechanics who work on combines year round, not just when you have a problem.
2) PEOPLE WHO CARE about your problems and want to fix them fast. so that you can get back to the field.
3) RECONDITIONED COMPONENTS which are not for sale, but are strictly reserved for use by the SERVICE DEPARTMENT to insert in customers machines who have major component failures.

DEEP LITTER FOR THE HOME FLOCK

R. J. Rugaber
Sr. Extension Agent
On Assignment
Dept. of Poultry Science

Cleaning the chicken coop is probably not anyone's idea of a good time, but it is necessary if the flock is to remain healthy and productive.

While this task can't be totally eliminated, small flock owners who practice deep litter management can often get by with just one annual housecleaning. Such a cleaning usually takes place in the late summer or early fall as the old hens are removed and the house prepared for a new flock of pullets.

First, of course, the henhouse must be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Necessary repairs should be made and the roof checked for leaks. It is best if the building can stand idle for at least two weeks following the cleaning to allow time for any remaining disease organisms to die from exposure to fresh air and sunlight.

A day or two before the pullets are to be housed, sprinkle some hydrated lime on the floor and apply six inches of dry sawdust, wood shavings, or similar material. Next, scatter two or three inches of straw. This will form the base of your deep litter system.

Make certain that water fountains are located in such a way that they can neither leak into the litter nor fill with it. Putting them up on wire stands or platforms is suggested.

The whole object of this management system is to keep the litter dry and absorbent so that new droppings will be quickly mixed in and dried out. If by chance a wet spot appears, it must be removed and replaced with fresh dry material.

By scattering a few handfuls of whole oats or other scratch grain each day, you will encourage the hens to stir and mix the litter for you. As the straw on top gets broken up and mixed in, add some more for the birds to work on. As time passes, the litter will get deeper, providing an insulation against the frost of winter and a sponge-like surface to wick away the moisture of fresh droppings.

For this system to work properly in the typical small flock situation, the building must be well ventilated and preferably insulated. At least the ceiling must be insulated so that moisture won't condense and fall to the floor.

I know of several houses being successfully managed with deep litter where screened windows facing south or southeast are left open in even the coldest of weather. You must make sure, however, they are sufficiently protected by an overhanging roof to keep out blowing rain and snow. Chickens don't seem to mind the cold but they won't do well in a moist, poorly ventilated situation.

Any poultry house will become damp if the birds are crowded. The secret to succeeding with deep litter is to give the hens lots of room. For Leghorns, allow four square feet of floor space per bird and heavy breeds should have five square feet.

Wire-covered dropping boards under the roosting poles will also help to keep the floor drier. These can be scraped clean as needed and the boards sprinkled with lime.

By the end of the year, you will have as much as a foot of litter on the floor, but it will be relatively dry and easy to remove. Gardeners find it an excellent source of organic nitrogen for layering into their compost pile.

Deep litter isn't for everyone. But when properly carried out, it provides a simple management system for the keeper and a clean, dry, healthy environment for the birds.

Case Show A Success

WESTMINSTER, Md. — More than 125 pieces of J.I. Case equipment were at the sixth annual JICCA Show on August 18-19, 1990 at the Carroll County Farm Museum.

This year's event was the first time the J.I. Case Collectors Association has ever met in the East and the first time an all J.I. Case, only J.I. Case show has ever been held.

The spacious grounds of the Farm Musem provided an ideal setting to display and demonstrate vintage farm equipment and the attendance was an estimated 2,000 people each day.

The event was hosted by Case collectors in the Md., Pa., Va., and Del. area who, several years ago, invited the JICCA to have their 6th annual summer convention in the East. The equipment on display was not limited to those states because there were tractors or displays from W.Va., N.C., Ohio, Ill., Ind., Iowa, and Mich.

The collectors were impressed by the wide variety of equipment. At many shows, there may be lots of steam engines or lots of cars or lots of tractors but they had never seen a show before that had as many different items built by the Case company.

There were steam engines, cars, tractors, plows, wagons, hammermill, silo filler, corn and grain binders, garden tractors, power units, cultivators, and four threshing machines. Combines were on hand also including, a 1926 model B prairie type, an A6 pull type, and a 600 self propelled.

Horse drawn equipment included a grain drill, mower, riding cultivator, and a manure spreader. There was a Case dozer and several Case industrial tractors.

There was working scale model equipment, too. A half scale model 25-45 made and exhibited by Milt Deets of Ohio was one of the star attractions of the show. A scale model saw mill owned and operated by Gilbert Wisner, president of the Md. Steam Historical Society, created a lot of excitement.

Ronnie Smith's scale Case steam engine also brought lots of applause from the crowd during the parade which was held each day.

READ LABEL, EXERCISE CAUTION WHEN USING PESTICIDES

Recently I participated in a pesticide applicators training workshop. The purpose of this workshop was to assist farmers in methods of safe pesticide use. Farmers could brush up on pesticide safety, and, at the same time, get certified to handle certain pesticides.

Those of us in agriculture are familiar with pesticide use. We rely on pesticides to protect our crops from insects, weeds and diseases, and our livestock from diseases and parasites.

Ask yourself these two important questions: Are you taking the proper precautions when using pesticides, and do you understand the materials you are applying and how toxic they may be to you and your livestock?

A pesticide works as a toxin, repellent, attractant, or sterilant of pests. The Environmental Protection Agency has granted about 57,000 registrations for pesticide-containing products and for more than 1,750 active ingredients in those products.

Pesticides come in a host of formulations — aerosols, baits, liquids, granules, emulsifiable concentrates, dusts, impregnated materials, slow-released materials, oral materials, and rub-on creams and lotions. All of these have specific activities and are in a form to best accomplish the task for which they were developed.

Pesticides work in several ways. Some are short-lived, contact killers that are applied directly to pests and residual materials that eventually come in contact with or be ingested by the pest species.

Because pesticides are developed to kill pests, we need to exercise caution in using them because they have the potential of being hazardous to us. The acute or quick toxicity of a pesticide is measured as the LD50. This is the amount of pesticide needed per unit of body weight to cause the death of 50 percent of the test animals exposed to the pesticide.

Almost any compound is toxic if consumed in a great quantities. Sugar or table salt if consumed at a rate of 4 grams (454 grams per pound) per kilogram (2.2 pounds) of body weight is a lethal dose for 50 percent for the animals who consume it. This is the same LD50 as malathion, a typical insecticide used around livestock. The LD50 of caffeine is 225 milligrams (one milligram = 1/1000 of a gram) per kilogram while nicotine is 1 milligram per kilogram of body weight. Lindane, another insecticide used around hogs, has an LD50 of 88-125 milligrams per kilogram of body weight. These figures put into perspective that even the common, everyday items we consume are toxic if taken in large enough quantities. Some are even more acutely toxic than some pesticides.

In addition to the acute toxicity of these compounds, there may also be long-lasting or chronic effects. These are the effects that you don't see immediately, such as development of cancer, tumors, and genetic defects in unborn fetuses.

This potential for hazard is why all pesticides are closely scrutinized for their acute and chronic toxicity characteristics. As a matter of fact, some previously approved pesticides are being re-reviewed by the EPA, since original approval was made at a time when the requirements were not as stringent as they are now.

What can you do to avoid the harmful effects of pesticides? First and foremost, read the label of any pesticide when you buy it and again when you use it. When you buy a pesticide that you have used for years, re-read the labels, since many labels have been updated and contain new information.

Follow the practices described on the label. It does you no good at all to read the label and then ignore it. If the label calls for the applicator to wear a respirator, coveralls and gloves, do it. The guidelines set forth on the label have been developed to protect you, the user of the pesticide.

Agriculture has been accused of being too reliant on the use of chemicals by some in the non-agricultural sector. People believe that our meats and vegetables are affected in ways that make the products unsafe for human consumption. The assurance that you use pesticides properly will help alleviate this concern.

The best way to convince consumers that the food we provide them is safe is by following all label precautions and avoiding possible residue problems. Responsible pesticide usage benefits all of us. We must make certain the job gets done.

Fair Holds 4-H Show

CREAMERY (Montgomery Co.) — Andy Kumpf of Norristown took home the grand championship ribbon with his Angus steer entry in the 4-H steer show, held recently during the annual Montgomery County 4-H Fair in Creamery, Pa.

The reserve champion steer was an animal exhibited by Kevin Horvath of Phoenixville. Judge Myron Ritter, superintendent of Erdenheim Farms in Flourtown, named Nichole Hilmer of Harleysville as the grand champion fitter and showman. Her Hereford steer also won first place in the medium weight class.

Following is a list of placings.

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — A six-year-old cow owned by Pleasant Valley Jerseys topped the Franklin County Jersey Show August 23. Pleasant Valley Master Trixi, shown by Lester and Douglas Martin received the senior and grand champion award and the Best Udder trophy.

Doug Martin also showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion, Clairwood Advancer Ginny, a junior three-year-old who was best-uddered in her class.

Senior and grand champion honors of the Youth show went to Chris Reichard of Reich-Dale Farm, Chambersburg, for his five-year-old cow, Pleasant Valley Master Butternut.

Chris's brother Brian showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion of the Youth show, Reich-Dale Duncan Twinkles, a junior two-year-old who was best-uddered in her class.

The Franklin County Guernsey and Brown Swiss shows were held the same day as the Jersey show, in conjunction with the Franklin County Fair. Curtis Day of Shippensburg judged all three of the colored breed shows, held at the Chambersburg Rod and Gun Club.

The Schnebly family of Crown Stone Farm, Clear Spring, MD, dominated the Guernsey show. John B. Schnebly showed the senior and grand champion of the Guernsey show. Crown Stone Adrian Tara, a junior two-year-old, was also named the best-uddered cow of the show. Schnebly also showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion, Crown Stone Fayette Tammy.

In the Youth show, senior and grand champion honors went to Crown Stone Fayette Sunflower, shown by Brian R. Schnebly. Brian also showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion of the Youth show, Crown Stone Jupiter Orchid, a five-year-old cow.

In the Brown Swiss show, Alan Meyers of Greencastle walked his 100,000 pound cow, Paula JA Burton Beverly, to the senior and grand champion spot. The eleven-year-old cow was also the best-uddered cow of the show.

Patty Gloss of Twin Lane Farm, Chambersburg, showed Lake Lane Bronze Pearl, a five-year-old cow who was named senior and grand champion of the Youth show and reserve senior and reserve grand of the Open show. Reserve senior and reserve grand champion honors went to Patty's sister Jennie for her senior two-year-old, Twin Lane Claudia Marie.

Judge Curtis Day spoke highly of the quality of the show. "It was a nice Swiss show. And when you see Jersey udders like that, it makes the job more pleasant," he said. "In the group classes, when the champion cow comes back with a mother who is still producing, you know these people are doing something right with their breeding program." As an example, he noted that the first place Guernsey five-year-old and the first place Guernsey three-year-old are dam and daughter.

AHA Issues Sire Evaluation Report

KANSAS CITY, Mo.— The American Hereford Association has released their 1990 version of the National Sire Evaluation Report. The report includes performance data and expected progeny differences (EPD) information on 605 progeny-proven sires and 1,445 genetic resource sires.

This Hereford report represents the industry's most advanced technology in computing genetic values for beef cattle. The progeny-proven sires have higher EPD accuracies and are generally older bulls. The genetic resource sires are generally lower in accuracy and are younger bulls, born in 1985 or later. To be eligible for listing, they must have had 10 or more progeny processed through the AHA's Total Performance Records Program for weaning weight.

The evaluation report includes data on number of offspring, birth weights, weaning and yearling weights, yearling height, scrotal circumference, and milk and milk plus growth.

The report is available for $10 each and may be ordered from the AHA, P.O. Box 014059, Kansas City, MO 64101.

Nominate Steer Or Heifer Calf To Show

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Cattle producers interested in nominating a steer or heifer calf to be sold in the third Dutch Country Calf Sale to be held at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, October 27, 1990 at the Lebanon Fairgrounds have until September 30 to submit their entries, according to sale chairman Sheila Miller.

"Deadline for filing entry fees and applications is the end of this month," said Miller. "We will be accepting calves born after January 1, 1990. Calves can be crossbred steers or purebred steers and heifers. All cattle producers who enter calves must be members of the Berks Cattlemen's Association or the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association."

Several of the calves sold at the 1989 Dutch Country Calf Sale have earned grand championship titles at recent fairs. Kelly Bachman, Annville, showed her crossbred calf bred by Elmer Stehman of Robesonia to grand champion at the Lebanon County Fair. Jeremy Manwiller, Robesonia, showed his purebred Polled Hereford steer bred by Deitschland Farm, Womelsdorf, to grand champion honors at the Kimberton Fair, Chester County. These champion owners are eligible to receive $50 gift certificates on a purchase of another calf at this year's calf sale.

Previous sale consignors include Twin Oak Farm, Quarryville; Ken Hebel, Grantville; Leon Arnold, Lebanon; Larry Arnold, Womelsdorf; Elmer Stehman, Robesonia; Glenn Eberly, Bellefonte; Messick Farm, Middletown; James Huber, Myerstown; Geri and John Gammel, Womelsdorf; Deitschland Farm, Womelsdorf; Map Farm, Womelsdorf; Rolling Shade Polled Herefords, East Greenville; Hawk Mountain Farm, Lenhartsville; Travis Werley, Shoemakersville; Susquehannock Farm, Sunbury; Salunga Acres, Lancaster; and Harry Bachman, Annville.

"As president of the Berks County Cattlemen's Association, I am pleased to be able to offer youth exhibitors and local cattle producers an opportunity to purchase and market top-quality calves for the 1991 show season," said Miller. "The Berks Cattlemen's Association represents cattle producers from many southeastern Pennsylvania counties. This is just one of our association-sponsored events."

Nomination fee for the Dutch Country Calf Sale is $15 per animal. A 5 percent commission will be charged on the sale price of each calf.

Watergate Reporter Is PennAg Keynote Speaker

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Carl Bernstein, whose reporting of Watergate with his colleague, Bob Woodward, won a Pulitzer Prize for The Washington Post, will be the keynote speaker at PennAg Industries Association's 112th convention from September 30 thru October 2 at The Troftrees Resort, State College.

Bernstein began his journalism career at age 16 as a copy boy at the "Washington Star" and at age 19 began reporting there. Before joining the Washington Post in 1966, Bernstein was a reporter for "The Elizabeth (NJ) Journal," where he won the New Jersey Press Association's top awards in three categories: feature news, news on deadline, and investigative reporting. In addition to the Pulitzer Prize the Post received, Woodward and Bernstein won more than a dozen major journalistic awards for their Watergate coverage.

Bernstein and Woodward first uncovered the White House connection to the break-in of the Democratic National Committee headquarters at the Watergate complex during the 1972 presidential campaign. Their pursuit of the events surrounding the break-in and the subsequent White House cover-up led to the first resignation of an American president and the indictment of his top aides.

The two men detailed their investigative efforts in "All the President's Men," which became a national best-seller and was the basis for a movie of the same name. That book was followed by a second best-seller, "The Final Days," which chronicled the end of the Nixon administration.

In 1981, Bernstein was named producer and principal correspondent for a new "ABC News" special reporting effort. In this position, he is responsible for developing in-depth and investigative reports for all "ABC News" programming. Bernstein works with a group of off-air reporters and draws upon the reporting and production resources of the entire "ABC News" organization.

In his new book, "Loyalities: A Son's Memoir," Bernstein focuses his reportorial and writing skills on the story of his own family. In his most personal and passionate work yet, he recounts the persecution of his parents and thousands of others during the McCarthy era, the profoundly disturbing results of these events on his childhood, and the lasting effects on his relationship with his parents today.

YORK (York Co.) — York Farm Credit, ACA has recently announced the employment of John J. Mattilio as an agri-business account executive. Mattilio will be working at the York headquarters office, and will be serving the credit needs of local farmers and agri-business customers.

"York Farm Credit is ideally designed to serve the credit needs of area farmers and quality service. "John will also be working to implement a Farm Credit leasing program, and a point-of-purchase program to finance machinery and equipment for area customers," said Jay V. Rush, president of York Farm Credit.

Mattilio began his agricultural lending career in 1987 as a field representative with the Denton Farm Credit Association in Chestertown, Maryland, and had recently worked as an agri-finance officer for Dauphin Deposit Bank and Trust Company in Carlisle. Wetlands Regs Should Be Up To State

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A recent survey conducted by the Pennsylvania Farmers Union (PFU) during Empire Field Days in New York state and Ag Progress Days in Pennsylvania indicates a significant number of people believe that the responsibility of regulating wetlands should be under the authority of the Department of Agriculture within each state.

According to Allen Deiter, president of PFU more than 400 people participated in the survey and the results show that 86.4 percent of the people favor the state regulating wetlands instead of the federal government. The survey also indicated that 80.5 percent of the people favor the departments of agriculture in New York and Pennsylvania to take charge of the wetlands issue instead of the Environmental Protection Agency.

Presently in Pennsylvania, the Department of Environmental Resources (DER) has been holding a series of informational meetings in an attempt to educate the general public regarding the wetland regulations that have been developed by DER.

According to Deiter, the wetlands issue has been and will continue to be very controversial, especially as it pertains to agriculture. The PFU president said, "Our members are very concerned that good agricultural land may be lost through the potential wetlands regulations."

PFU supports Senator Roger Madigans' efforts to protect farmland from regulations that would hamper agricultural production. Madigan, from Bradford County, has introduced Senate Bill 1326, which would protect valuable farmland.

President Deiter said, "In the past we have had altogether too many agencies trying to regulate wetlands and certainly we support the efforts to consolidate the authority of the agencies under one department, but we think this department should be the Agriculture Department, not DER."

Deiter said, "I feel that DER has enough other important matters to regulate, and agriculture issues should be left to the agriculture department." However, Deiter said that no matter who ends up with the responsibility of regulating wetlands (that responsibility is presently with DER), adequate funding will be a major problem. He said, "The national government doesn't mind passing the authority to the states, but they fail to send along any funds."

Arden Tewksbury, staff member of PFU supervising the survey, said, "Seventy-seven percent of the people felt farmers were practicing sound conservation measures as well as using pesticides correctly. Also of the ones surveyed, 90 percent felt that farmers should be reimbursed for any loss of agriculture land as a result of the Wetland regulation."

Regarding the 1990 Farm Bill, 83 percent of the people believe that the proposed 1990 Farm Bill is not structured to allow farmers to cover their cost of production. Also, 85 percent of the people said they made no phone calls to members of Congress pertaining to the Farm Bill, while 74 percent believe it was helpful to contact your congressman.

The PFU president said, "Most of the results of the survey certainly coincide with the policies of the Pennsylvania and New York Farmers Union." According to Deiter, after evaluating the results, coupled with a survey conducted by the Pa. State Grange in which more than 59 percent of the farmers believed the proposed 1990 Farm Bill was geared to help the large farmers at the expense of the smaller farmers, "then farmers must realize that our two farm organizations are in tune with their members."

Franklin Co. Holds Pig Roundup

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — When Spencer Walk left home early Saturday morning for the annual 4-H pgi club roundup at the Greencastle Livestock Market, he knew his pigs were ready for the show ring but he wasn't quite sure they were good enough to become the grand champion.

But when Judge Leon Arnold walked over and slapped his pig on the rump, indicating he was indeed the grand champion, all doubts quickly vanished.

For Spencer, it all started back in April when he visited Rattlesnake Mt. farm, a swine farm owned by Charles Hall near Junlian in Centre County, to select his 4-H porject animals. Since then, they have been fed, watered, pampered and show-ring-trained at his 1407 Cider Press Road home near Chambersburg.

The 245-pound champion was purchased by the Greencastle Livestock Market for $2.50 a pound to gross a tidy $613.00.

The reserve champion, also weighing 245 pounds was shown by David Sheiss, 967 Marion Road, Chambersburg, and according to the judge, was a very close second and was purchased by the W.R. Sellers buying Station for $2.10 a pound to gross $515.00.

In summary, the 74 project animals sold for an average of $87.16 per hundred weight for an average weight of 229 pounds. The sale value was $14,757, representing 16,930 pounds of pork-on-the-hoof said County Agent Bill Reagan.

In the pair class, champion honors went to David Sheiss, Chambersburg, averaging 225 pounds and purchased by W.R. Sellers, Greencastle, for $1.75 a pound.

Reserve champion pairs were shown by Becky Stoner, 7598 Hissong Road, Mercersburg, and purchased by W.R. Sellers Buying Station for $1.50 a pound.

Franklin Co. Hosts 4-H Dairy Show

BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — For the second year in a row, Jamie Hartman led Meadow-Vu Astro Bess to the grand champion spot of the Holstein portion of the Franklin County 4-H Dairy Show. Bess, a five-year-old cow, is a Higher-View Astro Matt daughter. She was bred by Robert Eckstine of Meadow-Vu Farm, Mercersburg.

Hartman, 16, was also named the senior showman of the event, held August 21 at the Chambersburg Rod and Gun Club. He is the son of Carl and Deanna Hartman of St. Thomas.

Reserve senior and grand champion honors went to Troy D. Young of Greencastle, son of Jaye and Julie Young of JCY Farms. JCY Starbuck Amanda, a Hanoverhill Starbuck daughter, is a senior two-year-old. She was named best-and-owned of the show.

Jersey

Senior and grand champion honors in the Jersey portion of the show went to Brian Reichard of Reich-Dale Farm, Chambersburg. His animal, Reich-Dale Magic Duncan Twinkles, is a junior two-year-old.

Adam Horst of Mercersburg showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion, Pleasant Valley Zorro Cherry, a three-year-old. She was bred by Lester and Ruth Martin of Pleasant Valley Jerseys.

Guernsey

Brown Swiss

Patty Gloss of Twin Lane Farm, Chambersburg, walked her five-year-old cow, Lake Lane Bronze Pearl, to the senior and grand champion position. Reserve senior champion honors went to Larissa Mellott of St. Thomas for her dry two-year-old, Shady Creek Status Dee Dena. Joel Mills of Marion showed the reserve grand champion, a senior calf named Bells Dream Simon Elaine.

Fitting and Showing

Senior and grand champion fitting honors went to Eric Horsh of St. Thomas. Junior and grand champion showman was Cory E. Meyers, also of St. Thomas. Junior Fitter was James Justin Burdette of Mercersburg.

Club Herd

In the club herd class, which consisted of five animals from each club, the Western Club placed first, with the Greencastle-Antrim club coming in second.

Judges for the 131 head entered in the show were Curtis Day of Shippensburg, type judge; and Jason Myers of New Windsor, MD, showing and fitting judge.

The show served as a qualifier for the district show, but the Danish system was not used, according to Franklin County Cooperative Extension dairy agent Phil Wagner. "We just used a straight system," he said, "and the kids and parents decided whether or not to take the animal to the district show."

The competition hasn't kept up with Massey-Ferguson. Have you?

Still the real leader

Massey-Ferguson caught the competition by surprise when they introduced the revolutionary M-F Autotronic tractors 3 years ago

Today the competition's newest models still can't match the productivity of the M-F Autotronic tractors Here's why

When making tight turns on the headlands, you need to quickly disengage the differential lock, but keep the 4WD to pull you sharply through the turn

M-F 3600 Series

▶ Raise your 3-point hitch or touch a brake and M-F Autotronic tractors automatically disengage the differential lock, but continues the 4WD so you can turn faster and sharper The competition shuts off their front-wheel assist, or does nothing

Reduced slippage.

How often have you wasted fuel and time from unnecessary wheel spin, or even been stopped when one wheel dug in, just because you forgot to re-engage the differential lock or 4WD?

▶ Drop the three-point hitch and M-F Autotronic tractors automatically re-engage the differential lock to prevent spinning and lost time

▶ On 4WD models, touch the differential lock and it automatically engages the 4WD.

Improved control.

Stopping a heavy load can be hard on your tractor and your nerves But it doesn't have to be

▶ As soon as you apply the brakes on 4WD models, the tractor instantly engages the 4WD to give you effective 4-wheel braking and maximum control.

Gentler PTO.

Independent PTO systems can be pretty hard on shear pins, clutches and implements.

▶ M-F Autotronic tractors automatically measure the PTO load and engage the clutch smoothly and progressively to prevent damage

Save fuel and tires.

4WD is great in the field, but not on the road

▶ M-F Autotronic tractors automatically disengage the 4WD at speeds over 9 mph (14 KPH) for better fuel economy and less tire wear.

▶ Slow down, and 4WD is re-engaged for maximum control and traction.

Compare all the benefits See and drive the competition's copies of the M-F Autotronic tractors Then stop by your M-F Dealer and see the real value and performance that has made Massey-Ferguson the Western World's largest tractor manufacturer

Then, if you still think their tractor is better, buy it

Delaware Observes Safety Week

NEWARK, Del. — Delaware's Governor Michael N. Castle and Lt. Governor Dale E. Wolf signed a proclamation designating September 16 through 22 as Farm Safety Week in the First State.

The proclamation urges all citizens who work on farms to observe safety and occupational health as part of their activities during the week and throughout the year.

According to Ron Jester, University of Delaware extension safety specialist, farming is five times more hazardous than the average industry.

"Farmers typically work long hours with complicated equipment," he said. "Research shows that as fatigue increases, so do accidents."

Jester is currently tabulating results of a sa. y survey taken earlier this year in Delaware.

"Preliminary results show a positive trend: Delaware farmers are having fewer accidents," he said. "Results of a survey in 1977 showed one accident for every five farms. A survey in 1983 indicated one accident for every seven farms.

Aged Cow Sweeps Holstein Show

BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — A beautifully-uddered six-year-old cow swept all the top categories at the Holstein Show of the Franklin County Fair August 23. Chris-Go CV Star Petra was named senior and grand champion, best-uddered cow, and best bred and owned. Petra, owned by Chris-Co Farm of Chambersburg, is a home-bred cow out of a 20,000 pound cow, Chris-Co Ivan Pat. Petra is milking about 98 pounds a day and is projected at 22,000 pounds of milk with a 4 percent test. She was shown by Kevin Christman.

Reserve senior and reserve grand champion honors went to El-Dor Saber Pansy, a senior two-year-old shown by El-Dor Farm, Chambersburg. Pansy, a Firdell Elevation Saber daughter, was also named second-best uddered cow of the show. She is classified Very Good 86 at two years and is projected at 16,900 pounds of milk and 620 pounds of fat, with a 3.7 percent test. This newcomer to the show ring was shown by J. Arlan Crider of El-Dor Farm.

Jamie Hartman, a 4-Her from St. Thomas, showed the senior and grand champion of the Youth portion of the show, held at the Chambersburg Rod and Gun Club. Meadow-Vu Astro Bess, a five-year-old cow, was sired by Higher-View Astro Matt. She was bred by Robert Eckstine of Mercersburg.

Justin Burdette of Mercersburg showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion of the youth show, Windy Knoll View Kit Jodee. The five-year-old cow is a Tiho Kit Builder daughter.

Harold Crider of Antrim Springs Farm and his brother J. Eldon Crider of El-Dor Farm were tied for both the Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor banners.

Terry Rawn of Landmark Genetics judged the more than 220 entries of the show. "The grand champion was an extremely well-balanced cow with a lot of dairy character. She's a clean-cut, angular dairy cow," Rawn said after the show. "There was exceptional quality" in the show, and "it ran deep in the classes. The kids did a super job of getting the heifers broke to lead," he added.

Dairy Show Sports 220 Entries

VAL VANTASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.)—With the 220 entries from eight counties, the Southeast 4-H Dairy Show had lots of competition.

The Holstein breed was by far the largest division with 130 entries. Berks County dominated the Black and Whites, winning all four championship ribbons.

Jeffrey Davis, Leesport R.D. 1, led the show with grand champion Daview Pete Ginger. The four-year-old was the champion at the Berks County Roundup and the reserve youth champion of the Eastern Champion Holstein Show. Ginger, 22,000-pound producer, also had a daughter in the show. The summer yearling placed second in her class.

Stacey Geist, Mertztown, was one of the most successful exhibitors at the show. Geist not only showed the reserve champion, Reu-Hel Farms Bell Special, but the junior champion as well, Reu Hel Farms Mark Mink. Geist also had a first place finish with her owned-and-bred animal Ro Ru-Melvin Noel.

Lyle Kerrick's junior calf did double duty as the reserve champion and junior champion of the Southeast 4-H Dairy Show. Karen Wolfgang, right, captured the grand championship of the Guernsey breed with this classy three-year-old.

Geist prefers Reu-Hel animals. "They're very dairy and nice to work with," she said. Geist doesn't live on a dairy operation and keeps her animals with the Elwood Ohlinger family in Mohrsville.

Geist's intermediate yearling was followed by a summer yearling owned by Erica Davis, Kutztown. Davis, a cousin to Jeffrey Davis, placed second with the heifer at the Eastern Holstein Championship. Teresa, Erica's mom, said that Erica had chosen and bought the heifer herself. The family will be taking the animal to the state show and the fall classic.

Paul Knight, York County, judged the Holstein breed.

Chester Valley 4-Hers Tonya Kozlowski and Tiffany Yeager have been trading the grand and reserve Jersey championships at shows all summer. When Tom Smith, colored breeds judge, finally made his decision, it was Tonya's senior two-year-old that had the top spot. Top-O-Hill Admiral M.G. Valentine was the champion of the Schuylkill Fair.

Valentine missed the top spot at the Chester County Roundup. That honor went to Agape Observer Shmad, yeager's entry. The owned-and-bred entry picked up reserve honors at the district show.

Kozlowski had a double win with the junior champion, Top-O-Hill Admiral Theda J.

Reserve honors went to Paul Plummer, Montgomery County 4-H. Plummer's father, John, is chairman of Delaware Valley College's Dairy Science Department. The college has no Jerseys as of this writing, but Plummer said they're working on it. Plummer and his sister Amy also show goats. According to Plummer, the Jerseys were chosen because their size is conducive to the family's three-acre operation. "They're also the prettiest," Amy said.

Another Montgomery County 4-Her, Karen Wolfgang, repeated as district Guernsey Champion. "She was fourth at states last year," Wolfgang said. The Wolfgang family no longer has a dairy operation, so the 4-H animals are kept at the Grater Brothers farm in Swenksville. Grater Brothers bred the champion and Karen was sure they would be pleased with the show's result.

Lyle Kerrick, Blakeslee, took reserve champion honors with his junior champion. The junior calf, Brightside F. Lidie, was Monroe County's 4-H champion.

Mary Rebecca Hendriks, another Chester Valley 4-H member, was pleased with her reserve junior championship finish. According to leader Mildred Seeds, Hendriks is blind. "Her brother, Troy, enters the ring with her. He gives her instructions and tells her when to stop."

The Hendriks work smoothly in the ring and the casual observer might not notice anything unusual. Mary's command of her senior calf and the animal's cleanliness won her both fitting and showing awards.

Another sister-brother combination, Kelly and Charles Young of Chester County, topped the Ayrshire breed. Kelly's three-year-old, Timberlawn Squire's D.R. Baby, beat her brother's senior two-year-old, Timberlawn Rebel's Audrey Rose. Kathryn Young, another sibling, will also be attending the state competition with a blue ribbon junior two-year-old.

Jed Vail, Myerstown, topped the junior division with Karlyn R. Command's Keeley. Kevin Nolan, Cochranville, Chester County, followed with an intermediate calf for the reserve champion.

"I'm going to states. I'm going to states!" Danielle Breaux shouted. Breaux had the champion Milking Shorthorn last year at the district show but she wasn't expecting to repeat this year. "There was competition here this year and this isn't the animal I brought last year," Breaux said. Breaux,

Salfordville, Montgomery County, bred her champion, Canbri La Promce Easter Bunni, a junior yearling.

Jessica Hostetter was named the reserve and junior champion with her intermediate calf, Pinesedge D.J.W.C. Lorrie. Hostetter of Washington Boro, Lancaster County, is a member of the Schuylkill County 4-H.

"If my cow had just a little better udder I'd have beat you," Frank Miller said.

"No way," Adam Spittler replied.

The two Schuylkill County 4-Hers shared a bit of friendly rivalry over their Brown Swiss grand and reserve champions. It was Spittler's first championship in his three years of showing. His junior two-year-old, Windmill Alaric Tempter, was bred by his grandfather, William Daubert, Pine Grove.

Frank Miller, Tamaqua, had the reserve, a senior two-year-old bred by Russel T. Miller.
